$60,000 LOST IN 'ENTERPRISES' OF TWO EX-CONVICTS

Scores Reported to Have Invested in Phonograph Company Promoted Here by Pair.

PROMISSORY NOTES SOLD TO INVESTORS

Circuit Attorney Investigating Complaints of Those Who Thought They Were Buying Stock.

Complaints that scores of St. Louisans have lost their savings in business enterprises promoted by an ex-convict with the assistance of another ex-convict, are under investigation by the Circuit Attorney. Four investors have lost approximately $60,000.

The promoter of the enterprise is Edgar Schniders, who was convicted in 1915 of forgery and served 18 months of a two-year sentence. One of his associates is Austin Peck Jr., formerly a stock broker, who received a five-year sentence for embezzlement in January, 1931, and was paroled the following November on representations that he was suffering from tuberculosis.

The enterprises are the Tyrola Phonograph Co., the National Distributing and Sales Co., and the North American Sales Co.

One investor was told the company had a large factory in Quincy, Ill., with 40 salesmen on the road, and another was informed that the factory was in North St. Louis, but neither plant has been found thus far. The products were the "Melodized Tyrola," a talking machine, and the Radiograph, which was a cabinet model with a radio receiving set on one side and a talking machine on the other.

Thousands Reported Lost.

Some of those who entrusted their savings to Schniders, and the amounts, are:

Charles G. Lovcamp, 1221 Sidney street, $18,000;
George H. Lee, 1109 Penrose street, $5,000;
Ernest Noennig, 4223 Bingham street, $2,500;
A. R. Smith, 6925 Plateau street, also invested, and his losses have been reported to be $34,000. He is out of the city.

Lovcamp and Noennig are retired farmers. Lee is a stationary engineer, and Smith is a manufacturing chemist.

Noennig applied for warrants against Schniders last Tuesday, and was told to come back Friday, at which time Schniders' attorney had promised he would appear before the Circuit Attorney. A Post-Dispatch reporter who visited Schniders' bungalow at 4223 Arsenal street yesterday, was told that Schniders is in Dubuque, Ia. The residence cost $18,000 and had a garage in the rear where Schniders keeps his Pierce-Arrow automobile.

No efforts, apparently, have been made by Schniders and his associates to sell stock in Missouri, or to manufacture talking machines. However, some machines were placed in saloons and confectioneries in St. Louis and East St. Louis, and promissory notes obtained from the storekeepers. These notes were then sold to persons looking for investments. When the buyers attempted to collect on the notes, they were almost invariably informed the notes had been obtained by trickery, and payment was refused.

Lovcamp and Lee hold notes, all of which are past due, and none of which, with two exceptions, has proved collectible. Noennig, who says he thought he was buying stock certificates and obtaining a "silent partner" in the phonograph concern, has been unable to find the signer of his notes.

How Notes Were Obtained.

An instance of the way notes were obtained was furnished by Henry Auer, who conducts a saloon and hotel at Broadway and Market street. Two years ago he was approached by two men who seemed eloquent in telling him how great were the profits to be made in selling tyrolas. All he would have to do would be to place the instruments on the floor and customers, dropping in for root beers and such, would listen to the melodized music and order a tyrola sent home.

A blank form was presented to Auer and he signed his name to it in six different places, thinking he was receiving for six machines. Later when his bank notified him that his six notes, each for $66.66, were due, and would be please call Warships Take Positions Along Route of Perilous Flight—Weather Must Improve Somewhat.

By the Associated Press. REKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 14.—The American round-the-world flyers will leave on their flight from Iceland to the northeast coast of Greenland tomorrow if weather permits.

The United States cruiser Richmond, flagship of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, will leave at 11 o'clock this morning to take up her position 370 miles off the coast of Iceland to await the passing of the flyers. The destroyers Reid and Billingsley will occupy stations near Iceland.

The plane of Lieut. Nelson, which had been on shore for several days for an overhauling, was successfully put back in the water yesterday afternoon. The machine is said to be in perfect condition for the next hop.

ZANNI MAKES LONG NON-STOP FLIGHT

By the Associated Press. RANGOON, Burma, Aug. 14.—Maj. Pedro Zanni, Argentine round-the-world flyer, arrived here at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon, after having made a non-stop flight from Calcutta. The aviator made an excellent landing on the Rangoon race course.

This is one of the best flights made by any of the round-the-world contestants. The Argentine flew over the bay at Bengal, although his plane was equipped with wheeled landing gear. The distance he flew without a stop was between 750 and 800 miles, and by the long jump he avoided troublesome and unlucky landing places. Both the American party and MacLaren, the British flyer, made two hops of this flight, stopping at Akayab. There MacLaren wrecked his plane and the Americans had a wing smashed while at anchor by a passing boat.

Destroyers Sail for Stations Off Greenland Aid Flyers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The destroyers Barry and Coghlan left Indian Harbor, Labrador, yesterday to take positions off Greenland and be ready for any assistance to the army round-the-world flyers on their hop across the Atlantic, the Navy Department is informed. The Barry will lie off Cape Farewell.

COOLIDGE SPEECH TONIGHT OPENS G. O. P. CAMPAIGN

Party Leaders From All Sections of Country in Washington for Formal Notification Ceremonies.

MEETING IN HALL OF LIMITED CAPACITY

Amplifiers Will Carry President's Voice to Those Outside—White House Luncheon for Committee.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Ready to launch the national campaign, Republican leaders from every section of the nation are here today to hear President Coolidge outline his campaign issues in a speech accepting the nomination as presidential candidate of the party.

Mr. Coolidge will be notified formally of his nomination at exercises in Memorial Continental Hall tonight.

Many of the visitors called at the White House to leave their respects with Secretary Siemp during the morning, prior to a noon buffet luncheon and informal reception arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge for the representatives of the convention which nominated him, but the President, because of the work on his desk and an engagement to test his voice and pose for pictures in the auditorium where he will speak, was unable to receive many of them personally until the later hour.

Persons on the ellipse, just back of the White House, heard President Coolidge speak this morning as he facetiously told photographers he was not ready to deliver his speech of acceptance.

At the time the President was inspecting arrangements in Memorial Continental Hall and since photographers will be unable to be present at the ceremony tonight, he posed for a few pictures.

"Please raise your voice and speak," one of the cameramen requested.

The President did so, and his remarks to the photographers that he was not prepared to deliver to them his speech of acceptance were shot out over a wide expanse, as Mr. Coolidge was standing in front of an amplifying apparatus which had been turned on.

The exercises will start at 8 o'clock tonight. Eastern standard time. National Chairman Butler will preside and Frank W. Mondell, permanent chairman of the Republican national convention, will notify Mr. Coolidge of his nomination.

Mr. Coolidge's acceptance and a prayer by the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational Church here, of which the President is a member, will conclude the program.

Hall Open to Public.

Long distance telephones will carry the speaker's voice to radio broadcasting stations in every section east of the Rocky Mountains and party leaders estimate that an audience of millions will thus be enabled to hear the addresses despite the limited capacity of the hall.

Although there has been a heavy demand for tickets for the hall which seats about 2,000, Chairman Butler said that at the request of the President, reservations will be made only for those taking part in the ceremonies and those invited, while the remainder of the space would be open to the public. Arrangements have been made to carry the President's voice to the outside of the building by amplifiers.

Those who will have reserved seats in the hall include the members of the Notification Committee, 16 Senators, and 58 members of the House.

The hall where the ceremonies will be held was built by the daughters of the American Revolution and was the scene of most of the plenary sessions of the conference on limitation of armaments.

Tomorrow night, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John, will leave for Plymouth, Vt., the home of the President's father, for a vacation of about 12 days.

KSD TO BROADCAST ACCEPTANCE SPEECH OF PRESIDENT TONIGHT

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S speech of acceptance of the Republican nomination for re-election will be broadcast tonight by Station KSD, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, which on last Monday gave similar radio service on the acceptance speech of John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate.

The entire program incident to the Coolidge notification will be sent out by this station beginning at 6:45 p. m., central standard time. Station KSD will be in direct microphone communication with Memorial Continental Hall in Washington and the proceedings will go out on the air with the volume of a local program, so that they may be picked up by crystal and tube sets.

Besides the acceptance speech of President Coolidge there will be music by the United States Marine Band, an invocation by the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce and addresses by William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, and Frank Mondell, chairman of the Notification Committee.

WIVES MUST SIGN NAMES OF HUSBANDS

Ruling of U. S. Comptroller Has Bearing on Employment of Married Women.

Post-Dispatch Bureau. 20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—J. R. McCarl, Comptroller-General of the United States, has raised a great disturbance among married women in the Government service by holding that they must sign their husband's names to the pay roll. In recent years executive departments have been trying to prevent the employment of husband and wife, and the campaign to that end has resulted in "Government brides" signing their maiden names.

"A woman employee of the Government who marries and continues in the service cannot be carried on the Government payroll under her maiden name, but must adopt her husband's name with a decision rendered by the Comptroller-General," says an announcement by the Department of the Interior.

This question came up in the case of a nurse at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, who was married last May, but refused to sign the payroll in her husband's name. On the books of the hospital she is listed in her husband's name with "Mrs." prefixed, but insisted on signing her old name.

FORESEE SWING TO LA FOLLETTE BY ST. LOUIS NEGROES

Leaders of Race Here Say Senator's Attack on K. K. Will Win Many Votes for Him.

DEFLECTION FROM COOLIDGE PREDICTED

Present Negro Registration in City 64,264—Figure Expected to Be Increased in September.

Trenchant denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan by Senator La Follette, Independent Progressive candidate for the presidency, assures him the votes of thousands of St. Louis negroes, at the expense of the Republican national ticket, in the opinion of a number of representative negroes whose views were sought by the Post-Dispatch.

They were questioned on the attitude of negro voters here toward presidential candidates, following reports of serious defections of negroes from Republican organizations in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The Klan issue and local situations are involved in those states.

Only a plan of condemnation by President Coolidge, as unmistakable as that of the Wisconsin Senator, can prevent a substantial drift of negroes from the Republican party here. It was said by several negro leaders. They do not anticipate such a pronouncement from the White House, either in the nomination acceptance tonight or later.

Negro Registration, 64,264.

Importance of the negro vote here is shown by Election Board records which place the present negro registration at 64,264, an increase of 100 per cent in the last four years, due to heavy migration from the South. The negro registration is approximately one-fourth of the total registration of 259,789.

The total will be considerably increased by the general registration in September. Registration always precedes a presidential election. In the last presidential election the Republican national ticket received 163,444 votes in St. Louis, as against 166,429 for the Democrats. The normal Republican majority, placed at about 20,000 by politicians was increased last year by the Republican national landslide.

The St. Louis Argus, only negro newspaper here, will support Senator La Follette, unless President Coolidge opposes the Klan by name, it is said. J. E. Mitchell, said today. He was one of those urging former Federal Judge Henry S. Priest, defeated for Governor, to run for Governor as an independent. Priest, who had repeatedly scored the Klan, declined to run as an independent.

The Klan issue is of greater importance to negro voters than any other single problem," Mitchell said. "If the attitude of presidential candidates remains as at present I wouldn't be surprised to see 50 per cent of the negro vote here go to La Follette."

Depends on Campaign.

"The size of the La Follette negro vote depends largely upon the kind of a campaign the La Follette people conduct among negroes. They are against the Klan before everything and will vote for the man who is strongest against it, if the issue is sufficiently stirred up."

The Republican machine will be able to hold not more than 20,000 negro voters in line for the ticket if the Klan issue gets "hot" here, Mitchell said. He believes most of the negroes will support the local Republican candidates.

Others interviewed did not foresee such a pronounced disturbance of the Republican negro vote, but without exception they agreed that thousands of negroes would vote for the candidate who takes the most advanced stand against the Klan. Among those holding such views were the Rev. T. J. Moppins, presiding elder of the A. M. E. Zion church; Homer G. Phillips, lawyer; Dr. T. A. Curry, dentist and chairman of the local executive committee of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People; Robert T. Scott, recently elected Sixth Ward Republican City Committeeman, and I. H. Bradbury, inspector in the city garbage collection department.

Committeeman's View.

"We haven't heard much about the third party," Committeeman Scott said, "but many negroes will go to the most outstanding anti-Klan candidate if the issue is stirred up."

Dr. Curtis said it is a little early to say.

SEEKER OF "TRUE RELIGION" LOST IN THE PACIFIC

Indiana Carpenter's 23-Foot Boat, Bound for Holy Land, Found Stranded in Orient.

Built Scow-like Craft Himself and Made 73-Day Voyage Alone to Philippines.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MANILA, Aug. 14.—Ira Sparks, of Peru, Indiana, who sailed from Honolulu in a 23-foot dory to seek the "true word of God" in the Holy Land, is believed to have perished off the coast of Zamboanga. His deserted boat, "The Dauntless," of Honolulu, was found stranded on Gatusan Island, on the eastern coast of Zamboanga, according to word to the constabulary here.

Sparks, an itinerant carpenter, with strong religious convictions, stored away in a packing box at San Francisco on a steamer bound for Honolulu. Three days out he was hailed from his packing case. At Honolulu he built his craft, which was described by correspondents as "little more than a scow, made by some romantic school boy." Announcing that he had a vision from Abraham commanding him to sail to Palestine and search for the "word of God," he left Hawaii Jan. 9 in his little boat.

He was last seen at Tandag, Surigao Province, Philippine Islands. His lonely voyage from Honolulu had taken 73 days. There he stated that he would put out for Singapore, and thence to India, where he hoped "to carry a little light to that benighted land." His boat, with its one mast and blunt lines, sailed away, speeded by farewells of the natives. Searfaring men at all ports he touched told him it was foolhardy to venture in such a craft, and many said he had not one chance in a thousand of completing his voyage.

Mother and Sons Seldom Heard From Wandering Pilgrim.

By the Associated Press. PERU, Ind., Aug. 14.—Ira Sparks, who is believed to have lost his life while attempting a voyage from Honolulu to the Holy Land in a 23-foot dory, formerly lived here, and his mother, Mrs. John Sparks, and his two small sons are living here now. They have had little word from him since June, 1922, when he was last heard from.

Sparks is described as a wanderer, with an intense interest in religious study. He managed a farm here, but abandoned this and went to Alaska, where he remained seven years.

VANDERBILT YACHT CROSSES FROM DENMARK IN 10 DAYS

New Craft, Which Cost $1,000,000, Goes Into Drydock on Arrival.

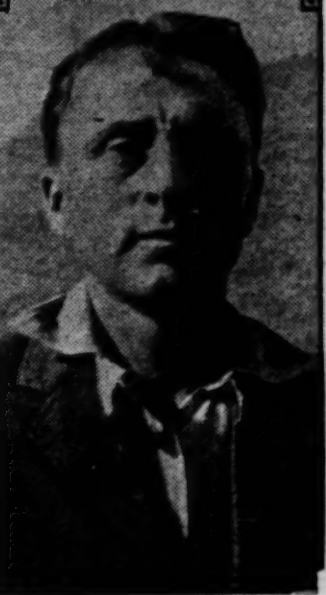

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Coming from Denmark in slightly more than 10 days, the Vedette, a new 155-foot yacht, owned by Frederick W. Vanderbilt, arrived yesterday at the Tebo Basin, Brooklyn, where she was placed in dry dock.

The yacht was constructed in Copenhagen and, with furnishings, many of them from Paris art rooms, it is estimated her total cost was about $1,000,000. The boat is equipped with twin-screw Diesel engines, each of 600 horsepower, and carries enough oil to permit her to cruise around the world without refueling. There are four guest rooms, elaborate baths, a smoking room, library, marine and radio telephones and quarters for the crew of 17 and the officers.

INSURANCE FIRM IN RECEIVERSHIP; LOSS IS $500,000

Federal Court Places Chas. G. Revelle in Charge of Affairs of Interstate Casualty Co.

A receiver was appointed today for the Interstate Casualty Co., an insurance company with offices in the Times Building, on a petition filed by James de Buchanan, vice president of the company, before Federal Judge Reeves.

The plaintiff asked for liquidation of the company, capitalised at $1,000,000, asserting the concern was insolvent and that $500,000 worth of paid-in capital stock was worthless because of dissipation among the officers and poor investments.

Reveille Appointed.

Judge Reeves appointed Charles G. Revelle, a former Judge of the Supreme Court, as receiver, with instructions that he take over the management of the company with authority to sell all insurance policy obligations to any other solvent insurance company. The Interstate company, according to the petition, has outstanding about $700,000 face value in policies.

Application for receivership states the company was organized under the laws of Alabama, with an authorized capital of $1,000,000, of which $500,000 was paid in. The officers are Chester Newman of Kansas City, president; De Buchanan, vice president, and J. L. McNatt of St. Louis, secretary.

It is charged the company has operated at a loss since Jan. 1, 1932, that depreciation in the value of securities held has aggregated $400,000, and that the capital stock investment is "approximately entirely depleted."

Dissension Alleged.

The difficulties are ascribed to dissension and lack of co-operation among the officers and members of the Executive Committee. It is asserted the Executive Committee caused large loans to be made without proper security, and that large sums are tied up in an insolvent bank.

Insurance examiners, the petition stated, are demanding that the stockholders pay "additional large sums" before the company can legally be permitted to continue business, and further, that Alabama examiners are demanding the resignations of the company's officials.

Former Supreme Judge Conway Elder was appointed attorney for the receiver.

ROBBERS STOP FAST FRENCH TRAIN BY OILING THE TRACKS

By the Associated Press. MAREUILLES, France, Aug. 14.—Seven masked men last night held up and robbed a fast train near here, escaping with approximately 20,000 francs ($6000 normally).

They stopped the train by oiling the tracks.

DEFENSE BRINGS OUT DESCRIPTION OF EXAMINATION

Youth's Story of Franks Crime Told in Presence of 15 Persons and Doctor "Listened In."

"O, GEE, MUST I TELL THAT AGAIN!"

Witness Grows Impatient on Stand; "Leopold Emotionally Normal During Discussion."

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—The defense made a determined attempt today to show that the examinations of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb made by the State's alienists, Dr. Hugh T. Patrick and Dr. Archibald Church, were made under unfavorable conditions, and that their conclusions that the slayers of Robert Franks were sane were based on inadequate information. Both doctors testified that their examinations were made in the office of State's Attorney Crowe and had never made an examination under such conditions before. There were about 15 persons present, it was testified, and Dr. Church said there were too many persons present for an ideal conversation. The alienists' conclusions were based largely in the case of Leopold on a talk by Dr. Patrick with him on the subject of psychology.

Crowe and Darrow Clash.

Clarence S. Darrow, chief of counsel for the defense, and Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, got into an angry argument at the afternoon session, and Judge John H. Caverly directed a brief recess.

Darrow, cross-examining Dr. Church, asked if the doctor had gone to the boys for any other purpose than to give testimony on which to hang them.

His lips quivering, his naturally ruddy countenance redder than ever, and his finger pointed shakily at Darrow, the doctor managed to get out: "Now, Mr. Darrow, you know that was not true."

Crowe was on his feet. "Let him answer, let him answer," Crowe shouted. Darrow withdrew his question with an apology. "He asked a question and saw the answer was going to hurt him," Crowe said in reference to Darrow.

"You know I don't play tricks," he hurled back Darrow, "I inadvertently used the word and I have had it stricken out."

"You have played plenty of tricks," Crowe retorted. "You have played plenty of tricks," Crowe retorted. "You have played plenty of tricks," Crowe retorted.

When the hearing was resumed this morning for the twenty-first day, Benjamin Bachrach of defense counsel resumed questioning of Dr. Patrick about his examination of Leopold in the office of State's Attorney Crowe. The questions concerned chiefly the "psychology of birds," which Dr. Patrick said had been discussed. Chief of Defense Counsel Darrow had said after adjournment yesterday that Bachrach's examination "might or might not" be an effort to show Dr. Patrick formed his conclusions as to Leopold's mental condition after a conversation of only 30 minutes.

There was some conversation about the psychology of man, of animals and of human behavior, and the question of where instinct ceased and reason began and how such was controlled," said the doctor.

"Did you regard that conversation as a part of your examination?" and "Did you consider the situation well adapted for your purposes?" were questions asked by Bachrach. Dr. Patrick gave affirmative replies.

"I was not paying any attention to other things and apparently Leopold was not," said the doctor.

KNIFE IN M'MULLIN'S HAND CAUSED HIS DEATH, WIFE SAYS

Former Dry Agent Died After a Furious Struggle With Her in Their Room, She Admits.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The knife thrust that ended the tempestuous career of Stewart N. Mc-Mullin, once a prohibition agent, last Saturday night, came in a furious struggle between McMullin and his wife, who says he had beaten and kicked her and driven her into a life of shame.

After insisting for three days and four nights that her husband had been stabbed outside their apartment and that the staggered home to die, Mrs. McMullin admitted yesterday to Assistant District Attorney Jones that the version she had been giving was false.
Even now she denies having had the knife in her hand before her husband's death. She says he was trying to stab her and that she forced his hand behind him during a struggle. When they collided with the wall, Mrs. McMullin declared, the blade went into her husband's back on the left side.
"Never at any time did I intend to kill my husband," she said. "I loved him too dearly for that. The reason I did not tell before about the real way of the killing was that I was afraid to do so. My attorneys have told me to tell only the truth and this is it."

FEARS 20 MEN LOST LIVES IN 750-TON HAY BARN FIRE

Coroner Says Seven Reported Escape by Kicking Boards Loose as Flames Blocked Door.

By the Associated Press.
KNIGHTS LANDING, Cal., Aug.
14.—Twenty itinerant laborers are believed to have perished, their charred bodies still being buried today under a smoldering pile of 750 tons of hay, in a fire that destroyed a large barn owned by the River Farms Co. near here. The Coroner stated that an attempt to remove the dead would not be made until Friday or Saturday because of the intense heat. The body of one unidentified man has been recovered.

The fire, of unknown origin, broke out Tuesday, and by the time the sleeping men could be aroused the entire unlocked end of the hay barn was ablaze. The panic-stricken men, rushing to the other end of the building tore boards loose and crowded out through a small opening. The fire was discovered by a watchman, who was awakened by the screams of the men.

The Coroner said that 50 men were reported to have been sleeping in the barn, but that so far only seven men had notified him that they had escaped. He said he presumed that the others who were able to squeeze through the small opening did not stop to tell the authorities of their safety.

ALCOHOL-LADEN TRUCK CLAIMED BY ST. LOUISAN

Declarer (Ill.) Police, However, Refuse to Give Up Machine to Tony Sansone.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
DECATUR, Ill., Aug. 14.—Tony Sansone of 1907 Wash street, St.
Louis, arrived here today to claim a motor truck held by the police.
The truck contained 230 gallons of alcohol, camouflaged with 24 crates of tomatoes on top, when it was abandoned on a road through Decatur yesterday by two men when the engine burst into flame.
Observers, unaware of the major contents in an innocent-looking load of tomatoes, extinguished the blaze.

Sansone said he had rented the truck to a man whose name he did not know to haul tomatoes to Springfield and was unaware of the use to which it was put until a Post-Dispatch reporter told him of it. The Decatur police refused to surrender the machine and Sansone left for Springfield to seek the man to whom he says he had rented it.

ment today ordered the alrship
Shenandoah at Lakehurst to continue her tests at sea within the next few weeks, preventing the carrying out of her proposed flight to Des Moines, Ia.
The trip to Des Moines had been tentatively decided upon before the Shenandoah went north for her test at the floating mooring mast board the tender Patoka. That test was a complete success and in consequence it was decided to use the Shenandoah extensively in a series of scouting tests at sea off the Atlantic coast which are now being planned. While the plan for a Western trip has not been abandoned completely, the exercises will occupy the Shenandoah for a considerable time. She is expected, however, to make her scheduled transcontinental flight in October.

Out tomorrow New Victor Records

Red Seal Records

DOUBLE FACED
Number List Price
6453 $2.00

(Good-Bye (Tos) Ren Ponselle
(Serenade (Tos) Ren Ponselle)

Two Tost songs in English—the immortal "Good-Bye" and the dainty Serenade. And how Ponselle does sing them! To hear these records is to know why she is a Victor artist.

(Spanish Dance (Suzanne) Fania Cole Eren Zimbalist 6451 2.00
(Humoresque (Yank Brown) Fania Cole Eren Zimbalist)

The first records of display character this sterling artist has made for some time. A bewitchingly beautiful Serenade dance and a madly capricious Humoresque by a living English composer. Records you will want to hear and own.

Concert Songs and Instrumental

(Love is Mine (Toscanini-Gustav) Richard Crooks 45422 1.00
(For You Alone (O'Reilly-Gustav) Richard Crooks)

Love-songs of intense beauty. Whether or not you have had the experience—the exaltation, the transfiguration, the pain—these tender records will thrill you.

(Devotion (Helen) Victor Herbert's Orchestra 55223 1.50 (Sweetheart's Selection (Helen) Victor Herbert's Orchestra
"On Parade"—"Avalon"—"Pony on a Horse"—"Circles on the Moon"—"Sweetheart's Selection"

His own "Devotion" was the last work ever conducted for us by Victor Herbert, and this record is the last we ever can issue from his own hand. It is fitting to the occasion.

Light Vocal Selections

(Hinky Dinky Parlay Voo Billy Murray-Ed Smalle 19388 .75
(We Don't Get Much Money, But We Have a Lot of Fun Billy Murray-Ed Smalle)

Comic hits—one of them filled with war-time reminiscence, and the other a play on juvenile pastimes and popular songs. Delightful records—plenty of swing and go, and full of humor.

Folk Dances

(1) Broom Dance (2) Bummel Schottische Victor Band 19348 .75
(1) Gossiping Ull (2) On the Bridge of Arvignon Victor Band)

Records of old-world dances, issued for educational purposes. Selected numbers for the community celebration, or the family hour.

Dance Records

(Walla-Walla-Fox Trot Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra 19389 .75
(Dixie's Favorite Son-Fox Trot Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra)

Whiteman fox trots in comic style. The first has amusing echoes, for various instruments, of an amusing vocal refrain; the second is brilliant but amusing, too. No matter how many Whiteman records you have, you'll also want this one.

(Pickin' 'Em Up and Layin' 'Em Down The Benito Orchestra of Chicago 19386 .75
(The Doodle-Um Blues-Fox Trot The Benito Orchestra of Chicago)

Finely melodious fox trots—splendid hot-weather numbers that will hot you through the winter. Easily danced to, and lasting in appeal. Records you will want to keep handy.

(Rock-a-Bye My Baby Blues-Waltz The Truettmans 19387 .75
(Years of Happiness-Waltz The Benito Orchestra of Chicago)

The first number is an excellent waltz in the popular manner, with a yodel refrain based on "Emmett's Lullaby"; the other has deep-toned melodies with plenty of strings. Records that adequately fulfill every wish of the dancer.

There is but one Victrola and that is made by the Victor Company—look for these Victor trade marks.

EGYPT MAY SEIZE LAND ITALY CLAIMS

Prospect of International Row, Rather Than Sudan Disturbance, Stirs British.

Special Cable to the Post Dispatch and the New York World.
Copyright, 1936, by the Press and Political Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Threatened trouble between Egypt and Italy, rather than the potentially important bloodshed in the Sudan, was uppermost in the conference yesterday between Premier MacDonald and Lord Allenby, high commissioner of Egypt, and Sir Lee Stack, governor-general of the Sudan, and Sirdar of the whole Egyptian army.

The British cruiser Weymouth has been diverted to Fort Sudan, and the battleship Marlborough has been detached from the fleet at Zara and sent to Alexandria.

The situation causing the most acute anxiety is not, as is said, military troubles in the Sudan, where the Egyptian troops are now reported quiet, but the secret dispatch to Alexandria of large contingents of Egyptian troops, by the Egyptian government, without the knowledge or consent of the British.

The British are skeptical of the Egyptian explanation that the troop movement was caused by discovery of a plan to restore the ex-Khedive, Abdi Himly. The Egyptian Nationalists, now in power claim the oasis of Jarabid, on the Libyan frontier, which is also claimed by Italy, and a strip of land to the west of Sollum.

Troops have been sent to these regions without British knowledge and fears are felt lest the Egyptians, for the sake of prestige among their own followers, intend to seize the disputed territory. This would involve an Anglo-Italian row.
Therefore drastic measures are being taken here to avert any such adventure.

proceed to Egypt on few hours' notice.

PART OF DIARY OF LODI LEFT IN TAXICAB AND LOST

Manuscript Contained True Story of First Important Work of French Novelist.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Aug. 14.—Search is being made for an unpublished manuscript written by the late Pierre Lodi, comprising part of the novelist's diary, kept when he was a young officer, and dealing with the true story of "Alyade," his first principal work.

The manuscript was left in a taxicab by a printer, M. Jacomet, to whom it had been confided by the family for the reproduction of a few facsimiles. It consisted of about 50 sheets, written on both sides, faded with age, bearing neither title nor signature and contained in an ordinary envelope and it is feared that either the driver of the cab or some of his fares may have thrown it away, thinking it rubbish.

nicality in the immigration law, month tourist leave. They must

All had expected to be allowed

ADVERTISMENT

The Value of Charcoal

New People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty, and Yet It Is Not a Drug.

Pure willow charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature. And the more you take of it the better. It is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the impurities of the blood and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking or eating greasy and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectively cleans and improves the complexion, whitens the teeth, disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh, and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic. All charcoals sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best and most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; composed of the finest quality willow charcoal powdered to extreme fineness, compressed in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, sweetened to be smooth and palatable. Many physicians advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to be taken after eating from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. They are also believed to greatly benefit the liver. These lozenges cost but thirty cents a box at all drug stores and are sent by mail on receipt of address to F. A. Stuart Co., 15 Market Bldg., Marshall, Mich. You get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets.

Cadum Ointment for Pimples

Cadum Ointment makes pimples dry up and fall off, leaving the skin soft and smooth. Its soothing, antiseptic and healing powers stop the itching at once. Cadum Ointment is also good for rash, blotches, scaly skin, eruptions, sores, burns, chafings, ringworm, scabs, itch, insect bites, etc.

An Easy Way To Have Wavy Hair

Beauty experts have perfected a liquid which now gives straight hair a wonderful wave. Saves costly tedious trips to hairdresser's. FRUIT AND VEGETABLE GROWERS IN SESSION

Members and Directors of Co-operative Association Hold Two-Day Meeting.

Directors and a few members of the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers, a co-operative association which handled $2,519 carloads of produce last year, met at the Chase office yesterday and Tuesday. The federation began operating Jan. 1, 1932. It provides a distributing organization covering domestic and foreign markets throughout the year for growers of orchards and garden products which each have only a few weeks or months of production. The combination of independent retail grocers for purchasing in large amounts impressed him as rather hopeful than otherwise for the federation. He said that the retailers, serving the great mass of consumers, through their organizations could consult with the marketing bureau to attain the most efficient methods of distribution, and through their combined advertising could strongly aid in disposing of the peak of production most apt to glut the market. O. E. Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, believed that the next step would be the adoption of the European system, whereby the marketing bureau determines not only where produce will be sold, but what will be grown best to meet the market demand. Gray Silver, Washington representative of the Farm Bureau Federation, considered the co-operative movement "the most powerful influence in our national life." He mentioned, as indicative of its grasp on popular imagination, magazines which carried articles on agriculture last year. "They never noticed agriculture before," he remarked. "It had not been brought to the point where it demanded notice." The ultimate consummation of the movement, he said, might be the carrying on of food distribution through the meeting of consumers' and producers' marketing associations, as forecast in the purchasing organizations of many farm communities and in these selling organizations.

44 in "Bathing Beauty Contest." Forty-four young women competed for $250 in cash prizes at a "bathing beauty" contest at Forest Park Highlands yesterday during the annual picnic of the South Broadway Merchants' Association. More than 12,000 spectators attended the outing, which was an all-day affair. Ten of the "bathing beauties" divided the prize money. Miss Fay Gardner of 2204 South Broadway got first prize, $75; Miss Arvilla Reaser, 2616 Dodder street, second prize, $50, and Miss Kate Ginsberg, 1416 Goodfellow avenue, third prize, $25.

CHIROPRACTOR CHARGED WITH "HOLDING OUT TO CURE SICK"

Edwin F. Schwenker, a chiropractor, of 4307A Manchester avenue, was arrested yesterday by Health Department Inspector Fishwick, and a warrant sworn out against him on two counts charging practicing medicine without a license and "holding out to cure the sick."

Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer announced this would be the first case in which documentary evidence has been obtained in support of a point in the State law which makes it necessary to prove that a chiropractor has accepted fees for a promised cure.

The documentary evidence held by the prosecuting attorney is a statement mailed to R. P. Brockman, of 4440 Vista avenue, by Schwenker, which shows a total charge of fees of $150, of which $32 had been paid. Referring to the balance of $118, Schwenker had written on the bottom of the statement: "Please remit promptly and save me the unnecessary collection cost and trouble."

Brockman says Schwenker had been treating him for floating kidneys and stomach trouble for 11 months. A letter sent by Schwenker to Brockman, dated Oct. 24, 1935, urging Brockman not to stop treatment as he was not a well man, is also held as evidence.

Business cards of Schwenker bearing his name, followed by the abbreviations "D. C." and "Ph. C." which the Health Department inspector was unable to explain, and advertising literature claiming a wide range of cures, were also collected as evidence. Edwin F. Schwenker is a brother of L. H. Schwenker, who is also a chiropractor, living at 3522 Arsenal street and with offices at 604 Olive street.

Writes Letter on Collar.
A traveling man, briefly sojourning at a Chicago hotel, found no stationery in his room when he prepared to write a letter to an Edwardsville friend.

He opened his grip, took out a freshly laundered linen collar and wrote his message on the inside. The address he placed on the outside, with a two cent stamp.

The collar arrived at the Edwardsville post office yesterday and was delivered with other mail.

Accepts Ride: Robbed of Rings.
Nora Schneider, 618 South Broadway, told policemen last night she had been robbed of two diamond rings valued at $140 by two men who had attempted to attack her in an automobile near Edgemoor Park, in East St. Louis. She escaped from the machine, she said, and returned home. She said the men had stopped her about 3 o'clock near Seventh and Papin streets and invited her for a ride.

JEWELER SLAIN BY MAN IN AUTO

Shot When Talking to Friend on Brooklyn Street.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Andrea Pulio, a jeweler, was murdered today in Brooklyn, both charges of a double-barreled shotgun being fired at him from an automobile as he was standing on the street talking to a friend. The automobile then sped away. The shotgun was found on a street near the scene of the killing.

Twenty-five murders have been committed within a year in this section. The police think Pulio's murder was the outcome of a feud.

Man Shot in Pans Holdup Former Colorado Convict.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Aug. 14.—Identified through the minister who attempted to reform him, James Dinwiddie, former Colorado convict, who was shot when attempting to rob the Schuyler State Bank at Pana, today refused to reveal the identity of his five companions in the robbery who escaped. He was in the county jail here suffering from shotgun wounds which brought him down as he was fleeing from the bank with $18,500.

Dinwiddie, alias Jack McDonald and James Dillon, was identified by John E. George, Springfield Chief of Police, who knew the former convict through the Rev. John T. Thomas, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield. The Rev. Mr. Thomas was connected with the Colorado prison when Dinwiddie was serving a life term for murder and assisted in obtaining his release.

FLOOD DEAD 13,115 RELIEF WORKERS SAY

15,000,000 Affected by Chinese Disaster, According to Incomplete Returns.

By the Associated Press.
PEKIN, Aug. 14.—The International Famine Relief Commission announces that the latest estimate of the number of deaths from the floods which have been sweeping China is 13,115. The commission estimates that 15,000,000 persons are affected in the flooded areas in the provinces of Hunan, Chihli, Kiangsi, Fukien, Kwangtung, Shantung, Hubei and Hupoh. Of the dead, 2,000 perished in Kiangsi, Chihli Province, and the majority of the remainder in Hunan Province, which suffered more than other parts of the country. The metropolitan area, which includes 12 counties, from Peking southward, in Chihli province, with a population of four million, has 800,000 persons who need relief, according to the commission. In Hunan, it is estimated there are 4,700,000 so situated. In the whole of Chihli, 100,000; in Kiangsi, 240,000; in Kwangtung, 2,500,000; in Fukien, 1,000,000; in Shantung, 210,000, and in Hubei and Hupoh, 240,000 each. Chongking province is also reported to have been hit, but no detailed reports have been received from there. The relief commission, basing its computations on the famine of 1921, when 19,000,000 sufferers required $37,000,000 (Mexican) for relief, estimated that the present emergency requires $20,000,000 (Mexican).

RADIO PROGRAM BROADCAST FROM PLANE IN NEW YORK

Army Officers Co-operate in Successful Experiment at Mitchell Field.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The WJZ station successfully broadcast a program from an airplane, flying 4000 feet over Central Park, yesterday afternoon. The undertaking was carried out with the co-operation of Maj. Hensley, commandant of Mitchell Field. Lieut. Conell piloted the plane, which carried a new type of Signal Corps transmitter of five-watt power, an antenna which trailed 50 feet. On the ground, near the ball, was a receiving set and a portable amplifier, connected by wire with WJZ. The ground equipment included a microphone, while the plane had also a receiving set.

When the plane came in sight, Maj. L. D. Gardner, editor of the Aviation Magazine, announced it through the microphone and the announcement was broadcast from the wire by the station. Lieut. Hensley, observer in the plane, picked up Maj. Gardner's voice and repeated to him. For a quarter of an hour the man on the ground and the man in the air conversed on the topic of broadcasting from the air. Meanwhile the radio public was able to listen in on both sides of the conversation. It was announced at WJZ that more than 40 calls from out-of-town points apprised the station of the success of the experiment.

COAL MINE COMPANY OWNED BY UNION TO SELL STOCK

Engineers Brotherhood Applies for Permit to Offer $100,000 Worth in Missouri.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 14.—The Coal River Collieries of Huntington, W. Va., a coal mining enterprise organized by officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, has filed an application with the "Blue Sky" division of the State Finance Department, for a permit to sell in Missouri $100,000 worth of its authorized capital stock of $5,000,000. It was indicated the promoters plan to market most of the stock among labor union members.

The application states 95 per cent of the stock now outstanding is held by members of the brotherhood. Warren Stone, head of the brotherhood, is chairman of the board of directors of the company and William B. Prenter of Cleveland, vice chairman. Harry Leaberry of Huntington is president of the company at a salary of $12,000 a year.

The company has made application in five other States for permits to market other blocks of its stock, which will be sold at $100 a share. The capital stock was increased from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000 by the present stockholders April 7, and the stock is to be marketed; it was said, is a part of the increased issue.

REWARD FOR RECOVERY OF BODIES OF FATHER AND SON

Fred Alles and Son Were Drowned When Motorboat Was Drawn Under Barge.

A $50 reward has been offered by relatives for the recovery of the bodies of Fred Alles, 23 years old, of 312 Duchouquette street, and his 3-year-old son, Fred Jr., who were drowned Tuesday night at the foot of Leperance street, with two other men, when Alles' motorboat stalled and was drawn under a Government barge by a swift undertow.

Two of the 12 barges moored there were moved yesterday and several charges of dynamite were exploded in the river today but no trace of either the boat or its occupants has been found.

Alles' widow has offered to pay $25 for the recovery of either the body of her husband or her son. The others who drowned were Louis Monton and Charles Fischer of 2448 South Third street. A fifth member of the party escaped by swimming ashore.

C. & E. I. MAY BE ADDED TO NICKEL PLATE MERGER

Addition Would Give St. Louis Another Connection With Van Sweringen Combine.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—The Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad probably will be taken into the Erie-Nickel Plate railroad merger, according to authoritative reports current in financial and railroad circles here today. The Van Sweringen brothers, of Cleveland, it was said by a railroad financial authority, are considering the plan. The road has worked itself out of a Federal receivership, and is generally reported to be prosperous. Absorption of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois would give the merged roads another St. Louis connection, besides the Clover Leaf, Chicago-St. Louis passenger service would be a feature of the consolidation.

Shoots Woman Employer and Self.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Mrs. Queen Zimmel, 30 years old, proprietress of a dyeing and cleaning establishment, and Hugh McGregor, a driver in her employ, are at the point of death in a hospital as a result of a shooting today. McGregor, after wounding the woman during a quarrel, the police say, ran from the place but fired a bullet into his head as policemen pursued him. McGregor, the police say, had been seeking the woman's consent to marry him.

COOLIDGE MEN MAKING DRIVE FOR FARM VOTE

Leaders Emphasize "Incongruity" of Farmer-Labor Combination—Rosy Reports Received.

COOLIDGE NOT TO ANSWER ATTACKS

Task of Replying to Davis' Fire on President Will Be Left to Lesser Figures.

By CHARLES MICHELSON.
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—John W. Davis' thinly veiled but none the less patent attack on President Coolidge for "complicity in the face of corruption and ill-will toward the honest efforts of honest men to expose it," timidity and uncertainty in his conduct of foreign affairs and lack of ability to lead his own party in legislation will not tempt the President from the seclusion of his home campaign he has determined on.

These about the President represent his opinion that the election means to go further in his effort to correct what the Democrats believe is the false picture of a wise, stern, silent man that has been given to the country and are prepared for stiffer and more direct attacks when Davis warms up to the campaign.

These will be answered by others than the President; his advisers have no idea of permitting him to be placed on the defensive. In other words they believe that the colors on the portrait will not run under the rain of Democratic assault.

The Republicans are taking a different tack with the La Follette movement; they are planning a program to split the farmers away from the labor group, on the theory that most of the farmers are Republicans, while between the two main parties labor leans toward the Democrats. So they are making the most of the recent rise in the prices of farm products and are talking about the incongruity of a farmer-labor combination, which they believe can be broken up by the right sort of educational interference.

It is the Republican belief that they can keep Minnesota and South Dakota away from La Follette, leaving him only North Dakota and Wisconsin, and they intend an intensive campaign in La Follette's favorite state, with the return of agricultural prosperity as their talking point.

Eugene Meyer, managing director of the War Finance Corporation, and C. J. Jaffray, head of the newly organized Agricultural Credit Corporation, talked for an hour with Mr. Coolidge yesterday, giving him a glowing account of conditions in the grain states. They assured him the resentment of last year has passed and that the farmers, with new money, again are turned to purchasing more land.

They said the bank runs were practically over and advised the President that there would be no occasion to prolong the life of the War Finance Corporation beyond next December when its existence ends under the present statute.

Senators, "Coolidge and Good Times," has been coined in the Northwest, and it likewise is to be used in Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, to cut down the farm-ers' trend to La Follette and thus eliminate the danger of these states going Democratic. Indiana is the only one of the three big Middle West states that the Republicans admit might possibly leave the Coolidge column.

The La Follette people will counter the argument that such a measure of farm prosperity has come about is in spite, instead of because of the Republican administration.

Incidentally they are taking such steps as they can to prevent the Democrats from profiting by the splitting of the normal Republican strength. To this end Senator La Follette is getting in touch with his aids to ascertain the effect of the Davis speech. They are sensible that the present campaign that is Davis' avowed purpose is going to have a strong appeal to those voters in the La Follette country who are dissatisfied and who naturally would prefer punishing the administration by electing Davis to the sentimental satisfaction of piling up a protest vote for La Follette.

Incidentally word has reached Washington that the four "Republican" presidential elector candidates in South Dakota who had announced that they would vote for La Follette have agreed to withdraw and permit the Coolidge men

MEXICO ALSO BUYING AUTOS ON TIME PAYMENT SYSTEM

Trade Commissioner for U. S. Says Market for Radio Supplies Also Increasing.

Buying automobiles by the time payment plan is a custom not confined to the United States alone. Virtually all automobiles purchased in Mexico are bought by this method, H. B. McKenzie, Trade Commissioner at Mexico City for the United States Department of Commerce, said yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the Foreign Trade Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce and the World Trade Club of St. Louis.

And the recent general slackening of business there because of unsettled internal conditions was not apparent in the automobile industry. People bought cars just the same. The market for radio supplies is also growing, he said, while almost any standard American product marketed in this country can be successfully sold in Mexico.

Banks in Mexico lend little money, confining their activities principally to handling exchange and collections. Interest rates on loans, protected by the best of security, range from 1 1/2 to 2 per cent a month, McKenzie said.

Four-fifths of Mexico's total imports in 1923 came from the United States, he declared. St. Louis firms seemed especially alert in developing business and good will there. Business conditions are now about normal, he said, with prospects for increased activity now that the peaceful election of a new President had allayed fear of further revolutions.

MOROCCAN REBELS CONTINUE ATTACKS ON SPANIARDS

New Clashes Reported in Official Communiqué—Madrid Sends Reinforcements.

MADRID, Aug. 14.—Continued activity by rebels in the Spanish zone of Morocco is reported in an official communiqué issued this morning.

The rebels in the western zone attacked a war supply column in the Buhaia Sector, and were repulsed with losses. One Spanish soldier was killed and four wounded. A Spanish column has been concentrated at Quebdani, and will advance tomorrow in the direction of Afrau.

It was announced last night, after a special meeting of the military directorate, that reinforcements would be sent to Morocco under the command of Gen. Alberto Castro Girona.

BRAZILIAN REBELS IN FLIGHT Destroying Water Tanks, Making Pursuit Difficult.

By the Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 14.—The Santos correspondent of La Nacion says it is stated in an official quarter there that the Brazilian Federal troops operating in the interior of Sao Paulo state continue in pursuit of the rebels, who are proceeding in the direction of Matto Grosso. During their retreat the rebels are destroying water tanks, thereby rendering the pursuit more difficult.

The authorities thus far have listed 1800 houses in Sao Paulo city demolished during the fighting there. A great number of persons are arriving from the interior under arrest, being considered to have participated in the outbreak.

REED STAND PLEASAS DAVIS

Nominee Expresses Gratification in Telegram to Senator.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 14.—Senator James A. Reed has received a telegram from John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, saying he is "highly gratified" to know he had the Senator's support and expressing hope he soon would regain his health and strength.

By Davis, Senator Reed said the nominee's views suited him and he would support the ticket. It was Reed's first direct statement on the national ticket. Reed has been ill over eight weeks, and except for brief motor car rides recently, he has been confined to his room in a local hotel.

they defeated to take their places on the ballot, thus preserving the independent character of the La Follette candidacy.

G. O. P. Claiming Everything.
The Republicans are claiming everything. They do not admit there is a chance that their candidate will fall in any New England State, and they say that New York and New Jersey are both certain for him. In addition to Illinois and Ohio they say they will get Tennessee, Missouri, Iowa and Kansas, and will not even concede that Gov. Bryan's presence on the Democratic ticket will give Nebraska to Davis.

The most they will agree to is that this dream represents the political map of the country today and that some of the fringes of the present pattern may be worn off before election.

The Democratic campaign organization, not being in full operation here yet, there is no adequate counter choice, but by next week Democratic rainbows will be showing as intensive color as today's Republican Aurora Borealis.

GERMANY'S PLAN FOR A CURRENCY BASED ON GOLD

Reichsmark to Replace Rentenmark at Ratio of One to One Million—Exchange 4.2 to the Dollar.

PRISON TERM FOR INFLATION

Loans to Government Limited to 100,000,000 for Three Months—Previous Currencies Eliminated.

By SAMUEL SPEWACK.
Berlin Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1924, by the Post-Dispatch and New York World Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—The Rentenmark passes into oblivion. With it goes the Gold Discount Bank and the present Reichsbank.

Germany's new currency will be the plain mark, issued by the new Reichsbank, credited by experts and equal to one billion old paper marks.

There will be no new inflation, for prison sentences and heavy fines are provided for bank officials who interfere with the finely-wrought currency machinery set up by the reparations experts and the Reparation Commission.

There are only a few of a series of disclosures of the form and operation of Germany's new bank, as drafted by the experts and re-touched in the London conference, to be presented to the Reichstag for adoption. The facts are contained in a secret document which I have obtained—a companion piece to the exclusive presentation recently of the plan mortgaging German industry.

Details of the bank project are of special interest to all prospective investors in Germany, for they show what precautions have been taken to enforce stability on the Reich for the next 50 years—the specified life of Germany's new bank as constituted under this plan.

Since the document contains almost 50 typewritten pages, only the high lights can be transmitted here. It provides that the bank shall have the exclusive privilege of a circulation limited to less than 200,000,000 marks. With a capital of 400,000,000 marks, the new bank can issue almost one billion in paper, a 40 per cent covering in gold or foreign currencies being obligatory.

A Foreign Commissioner—presumably American—is provided for the currency issue, and each note must bear his approval. Paragraph 41 specifies that "members of the Reichsbank whose statements veil or distort the condition of the bank shall be punished by three months in jail. If the bank issues more notes than permitted, it will be fined an amount ten times that of the excess issue, with a minimum of 15,000 marks."

Apparently the present exchange rate, 4.2 to the dollar, holds, for the Reichsbank must give 1392 for one pound of gold fine. The provision that one new Reichsmark shall be worth one billion paper marks ends for all time the fiction renewed by Foreign Minister Stresemann for political purposes recently that holders of paper marks would be reimbursed.

The bank directors are to be exclusively German and chosen by the general council, composed of 14 members, seven Germans and the others British, French, Italian, Belgian, American, Dutch and Swiss. The president of the bank is to be a member of the General Council, and will assume legal responsibility for the bank's actions.

Loans to Government.
Paragraph 25, which describes the relations of the bank and the Reich, says the bank cannot lend more than 100,000,000 marks for a three months' term to the Government, and "at the end of the fiscal year there shall be no debt of the Reich to the bank."

There follows a carefully written pledge in which the Reich maintains its freedom to place any proposed internal loans, but must give first call to the Reichsbank. Only when the latter refuses can the Reich turn elsewhere.

The paragraph which destroys all previous currencies reads: "The Reichsbank is obligated to call in all previous issues and to convert them into Reichsmarks. These notes called in are to be destroyed."

It is noticeable in the general plan for the bank that more consideration is given to the German Government than is given to German industry in the plan for mortgaging the country's industry.

Bread Price Increased in Italy.
MILAN, Aug. 14.—In pursuance of the general policy throughout Italy, originated in Rome a few days ago, municipal authorities here have decided to increase the price of bread 10 centimes (about one cent) a kilo.

JOHN W. DAVIS

His 5 Years as Solicitor-General, Or Attorney for All the People

Hughes Termed Him Clearest Thinker and Best Informed Man Who Appeared Before Court—He Won Notable Victories

Compactness of His Briefs and Oral Arguments Seldom Lasting More Than Half Hour Characterized Work That Won Justices' Admiration.

(This is the third and concluding article on John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee for the Presidency.)

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.
THE legal and forensic ability displayed by John W. Davis while a member of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives, combined with his progressive attitude toward public questions, caused President Wilson, in August, 1912, to appoint him Solicitor-General of the United States. He resigned from Congress to accept. In a service of five years as Solicitor-General, terminated by his appointment as Ambassador to Great Britain, Davis made a record of exceptional brilliance—a record that has won almost universal commendation.

The Solicitor-General is the second official of the Department of Justice. The duties of the head of the department are largely administrative. On the Solicitor devolves the responsibility of representing the Government in court. He is the Government's trial lawyer. In a literal sense, he is the attorney for all the people of the United States.

It is common knowledge in Washington, and among lawyers generally, that the United States Supreme Court regarded him as one of the ablest lawyers, if not the ablest, appearing before it. As everybody knows who has attended a session of the court, the black-robed Justices can be extremely apathetic toward a lawyer's argument. When Davis spoke, they listened. Chief Justice White beamed on him. He is said to have declared that Davis had one of the ablest minds in America. Charles E. Hughes, who was an Associate Justice when Davis was Solicitor-General, said: "John W. Davis is the clearest thinker and the best informed man who comes before the Supreme Court to plead a case."

Davis was noted for the compactness of both his briefs and his oral arguments. Even in the most important cases, he seldom spoke for more than half an hour.

The long list of the cases handled by Davis contains some of the most important litigation in which the Government has ever taken part. He proved his mettle in half a dozen famous bouts with great combinations of capital—in the Steel Trust case, the Midwest Oil case, the Diamond Coal case, the Harvester Trust case, and others.

The first named of these was a suit for the dissolution of the United States Steel Corporation on the ground that it was a combination in restraint of trade. A hard-fought battle went against the Government, the case finally being decided in 1920 by a vote of four to three with two of the Justices not participating.

In the Midwest Oil case, Davis scored a notable victory for the Government. About 3,000,000 acres of the public domain supposed to contain oil had been withdrawn from public entry by President Taft in 1909. The Midwest Oil Co. contested the validity of the action. Davis argued and won the case for the Government, thus confirming its right to the naval oil reserves which Fall and Denby, six years later, surrendered to private oil interests.

In his argument Davis said: "In the absence of any congressional inhibition, the President, of national necessity, and by the very nature of his functions under the Constitution, is impliedly authorized to reserve public lands for public purposes. . . . The practice has been recognized by Congress again and again as a practice wholesome and necessary to the welfare of the Government and not a practice of usurpation."

The Diamond Coal Co. case was of similar character. Davis argued and won this case, which returned to the Government coal lands in Wyoming on which patents had been obtained by fraud.

Won Other Cases for Recovery of Land.
In the case of the Oregon and California Railroad Co. against the United States, which Davis argued for the Government, the Supreme Court rendered a decision which restored to the people about 2,300,000 acres of Western timber lands valued at $50,000,000.

Davis also argued and won the case (the Sunk Land cases) Lee-Wilson & Co. against the United States, by means of which the Government recovered 100,000 acres of timber lands valued at $3,500,000, in Arkansas.

The anti-trust suit against the International Harvester Co., the defendants in which included Cyrus H. McCormick of Chicago, Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation and George W. Perkins of the Morgan banking firm, resulted in a victory for the Government. It involved such highly contentious questions as what constitutes "unreasonable restraint" of trade, and the difference between "good trusts" and "bad trusts."

Davis handled this case in a fashion that won him new laurels as a lawyer.

"The anti-trust act," Davis declared in concluding an exhaustive brief on the case, "the work of perhaps the ablest Judiciary Committee that ever sat in either branch of Congress, is the deliberate effort of conservative, clear-thinking men to place some reasonable check on that liberty of combination which, if permitted to the 'logical extreme,' would in the end imperil liberty itself."

"If defendants' argument prevails—if corporate combinations, however comprehensive, do not come within the purview of the act unless and only so far as they demonstrably 'abuse' their power—the inevitable result will be the renewal of that great rush toward concentration which proceeded with ever accelerating rapidity until checked by the decision of the Court in the Northern Securities case."

"What would prevent, indeed, the creation of combinations with power to control the market for every necessary of life—food, coal, oil, metal, textile fabrics, etc.—or alliances of all of these combinations under the control of a few great masters of industry?"

"The desire for promoters' profits, the desire to escape from the pressure of competition, the natural gravitation of power into the hands of the powerful, and the desire for more power which great power engenders—these motives would still be adequate to produce such concentration, even assuming that prices, etc., could be rigidly controlled."

"The controversy in this case, therefore, is fundamental. The question is, Shall the competitive system continue—shall 'competition,' not 'combination,' be the law of trade?"

JOHN W. DAVIS.

He Successfully Defended Adamson Law and Selective Draft Act and Won Cases Involving Government's Right to Conserve Oil and Coal Lands.

roads outside on one State directly induces similar employment of children in competing States."

Davis argued and won the case which threw out of the Oklahoma constitution the so-called "grandfather clause"—the clause designed to disfranchise negroes by imposing a literacy test for all voters except descendants of persons entitled to vote on Jan. 1, 1866. In the course of his argument in this case, Davis said:

"The protection of the Constitution was extended to an entire race—to all races, it is true—but it is extended just as much to the humblest member of that race. Each single individual in it, if a citizen of the United States, is assured that neither the United States nor any State shall deny or abridge his right to vote on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude; and any law to the contrary, no matter from how high a source it comes or how adroitly its purposes may be hidden, is invalid and void though he alone be reached by it. . . . In each and every line and syllable, in meaning as well as in phrase, in fulfillment as well as in promise, the races must stand side by side."

Attack on Peonage Law Successful.
Again, Davis argued and won the case in which the Alabama peonage law was held to be in violation of the Thirteenth Amendment and the Federal anti-peonage law. "If the Constitution did not stand in the path of the Alabama law," said Davis, "then reason and public safety should. The fiction put forward in its defense has neither fact nor logic to support it."

In a case brought up from Oklahoma, charging election officials of that State with a violation of Federal law in refusing to count the ballots of certain precincts, Davis established his contention that the offense violated Section 6 of the Federal act of May 31, 1870, known as the Ku Klux Klan act.

"The right of suffrage secured by the Constitution," argued Davis, "consists not merely of the right to cast a ballot, but likewise of the right to have that ballot counted. . . . The statute (that of 1870) was designed to prevent any act whereby the complete exercise of that privilege might be prevented or restricted."

Davis fought a winning fight to uphold the constitutionality of the Adamson law—the eight-hour law for railroad workers. In his argument he said:

"In dealing with the relations of the employer and employee, the Legislature has necessarily a wide field of discretion. In order that there may be suitable protection of health and safety, and that peace and good order may be promoted, through regulations designed to insure wholesome conditions of work and freedom from oppression. . . .

"The wage regulation here involved has substantial connection with interstate commerce, because its natural tendency is to keep open the channels of interstate commerce and render such commerce safer and more efficient. Whether looked at from the standpoint of promoting commerce or removing obstructions to its free flow, the regulation of wages bears a close relation to the proper performance by carriers of their public duties."

"The efficiency and safety of railroad service depend upon the skill and physical fitness of the employees. It is just as necessary to properly care for employees as to keep in good condition the physical instrumentalities used in interstate commerce."

"Physical efficiency is impossible without proper living conditions, which demand suitable food, clothing, housing, rest and recreation. These, in turn, cannot be secured without the payment of an adequate wage."

"An adequate wage, therefore, is essential to safe, regular and efficient services in interstate commerce, and the public, through Congress, has a right to demand its payment."

Davis argued and won for the Government the case upholding the commodities clause of the Hepburn act as applicable to and making illegal a contract between a railroad company owning anthracite coal and a coal company organized by it and having the same stock ownership. This was the case of the United States against the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad.

Davis argued: "The commodities clause is a legislative expression of the conception that, regardless of any question of discrimination, for a railroad company, directly or indirectly, to be a shipper over its own lines in competition with other shippers is of itself an evil which should be prohibited, because the power, the profits, and the greater amount of capital enjoyed by a railroad company as a public carrier put other shippers over its

DAVIS MEETS HYLAN; GINGERS UP CAMPAIGN

Democrats to Center Fight in Atlantic Seaboard States, but Nominee Will Tour West.

VARIOUS LEADERS MEET CANDIDATE

Count on Coolidge-La Follette Battle in West to Give Democrats States in That Section.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—John W. Davis came back to New York yesterday and inside of a few hours had speeded up things at the Eastern headquarters of his campaign to an almost breathless pace.

Encouraged on all sides by the praise for his speech accepting the Democratic nomination, the presidential candidate worked all day conferring with his managers and setting the machinery of the campaign in motion.

Among others he saw Mayor Hylan, whom he invited to be his guest at luncheon. United States Senator Edwards of New Jersey, James W. Gerard, new treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, Jesse Jones of Texas, who will be in charge of collection of funds; Senator Pittman of Nevada, who is to head the speakers' bureau, and Thomas J. Spellacy of Connecticut, in charge of the campaign in the New England and Middle Atlantic states.

The high spot of the day, as well as the first big surprise of the campaign, was the luncheon engagement with Mayor Hylan, chief of the Mayor's close relations with W. R. Hearst, who has shown a disposition to oppose the Democratic ticket, even those close to Mr. Davis looked for no meeting at this time. Whether the luncheon was arranged as a result of his talk with Norman E. Mack, New York National Committee member, George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany, and John H. McCone, Brooklyn boss and one of the Mayor's closest friends, is not known, but as soon as the presidential nominee reached the Murray Hill Hotel he got in touch with the Mayor and asked for an appointment.

Davis Pleased With Visit.
The Mayor arrived at the hotel before 1 o'clock and seemed surprised when he found the news of his visit had been given out. He was taken into Davis' room by Mack and Spellacy, and talked with the candidate for more than an hour. When he left he refused to discuss his visit, saying Davis would make any announcement he thought proper.

Mr. Davis saw reporters shortly after the Mayor left and was asked who had arranged the meeting.

"I asked Mayor Hylan to meet me at luncheon and we had a very satisfactory talk," he said, "I am highly pleased as a result of his visit. The Mayor congratulated me on my speech of acceptance and we discussed issues and the campaign."

"Did you ask the Mayor to make speeches for you or did he suggest it?"

"The subject was not suggested, but I should be very glad to have him speak for me or do whatever he can for the party in the campaign."

Gov. Smith will begin his speaking tour for the Democratic presidential ticket "sometime after Labor day."

Hot Fight in East.
Although the main headquarters of the Davis-Bryan campaign will be in Washington, New York is expected to be the divisional headquarters for the hottest part of the battle for votes. The Democrats feel confident they will have the solid South and that the Coolidge-La Follette battle in the West will win them State honors and regarded as safely Republican. They mean to concentrate on New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

Spellacy, who had been marking time until after the formal opening of the campaign by the notification exercise, began yesterday the task of building up his personal net. He made the following appointments:

John P. Donlon, former managing editor of the New York Evening Telegram, director of publicity for Eastern headquarters; Benjamin Schrieber, formerly Deputy Attorney-General, organizer for the regional campaign; Ira M. Oronson of Connecticut, of the International Clear Makers' Union.

Buffalo Not Fur Animal.

An editorial in a daily newspaper exhibits solicitation about the legal status of anyone who might accept the gift of a buffalo from the Federal Government and thereby become involved in the state law for the protection of fur-bearing animals?

The buffalo is not named in the list of animals enumerated under the Missouri statutes.

Incidentally it would not make any particular difference whether a fur animal was received from a private individual or from the Federal authorities, the lawful provisions would be the same.

The Federal control of fur animals is not incorporated into any law which sets aside the state police powers. State regulation relating to permits or licenses must be observed.

Similar alarm about keeping "pet animals" is entirely unnecessary and only borrowing trouble there by. Fur animals may be kept as pets or in confinement providing they have been legally obtained during the open season and that application is made for a license to retain them during the closed season.

It is merely a systematic manner of keeping a record of those persons who desire to comply with the laws made for conservation purposes.

Possession of illegal birds, fish, animals or game is prohibited as the most effective weapon for law enforcement. Therefore it becomes necessary to have a license record for "pet animals" procured during closed season, or for birds and animals used for exhibition or scientific purposes.

Being the author of the new Missouri fur animal law, I take this means to explain its legal requirements. Several persons having been recently haled into court for possessing fur animals during the closed season has brought this subject into prominence.

But Walton May Win.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Referring to your recent editorial headed "Renouncing the Klan," if your reasoning is correct as to Texas, is it not glaringly wrong in the case of Oklahoma, where, though Walton got a majority, there were enough Klan votes to nominate the Republican candidate?

Be assured that a cause led by a Walton cannot hope for much success anywhere in this period. It is like the leadership of another well-known institution that has neglected to make progress.

How about the election results in Maine?

Cruelty in Film Making.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
For the benefit of those who may not be aware of the cruel usage of animals in the making of "The Covered Wagon," please find space for the following from "Our Dumb Animals":

"No less than 400 animals were cruelly injured in the making of 'The Covered Wagon.' Unbelievable perhaps, but unfortunately true.

"The Ten Commandments," when released, will present a similar animal tragedy. What child who sees 'The Call of the Wild' and recalls the wonderful tricks of 'Duck' can believe that that splendid animal died a fortnight after the picture was made, the direct result of cruelty at the hands of his trainers? The Hal Roach company, which made the picture, is just completing another one called 'The Dippy Dog Dad Series,' which should be banned in every community. The 'Bill and Bob' series, in which boys in scout uniforms were represented as abusing animals, give the 'lie' to the scout law of kindness. Moreover, pictures showing real or suggested cruelty are a potent factor in the alarming increase of juvenile crime."

Attendance at Many Opera.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE critics are attributing the decreased attendance at the Municipal Opera season 1924 to the management in the selection of operas and cast. This to justify their criticisms and judgment, whereas the only and entirely cause of the decreased attendance was the inclement weather. Rain and cold.

I shivered several nights during through the opera—many left at the intermission. Favorable weather would have produced attendance over 1923.

FAIRNESS.

MAKE THE TAX DODGER PAY.

There should be no hesitancy on the part of the Board of Aldermen in approving the request of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for an extra temporary force in the Assessor's office to check up personal property tax dodgers. The demand for such a force grows out of a complaint from the State Tax Commission that St. Louis' personal assessments are far below those of Kansas City with less than half our population.

According to Assessor Buder's claim his 17 deputies are engaged constantly in the work of real estate assessments and have no time to canvass personal property. If this is so it reveals an amazing condition. It means that the reporting of a valuation of taxable property which this year amounts to more than $47,000,000 is dependent almost entirely on the honesty of those charged with paying the bills. On the basis of Kansas City returns it also means that the St. Louis return is less than half what it should be and that for want of a few deputies who would cost thousands the city is losing millions to tax dodgers.

Such a condition makes the honest taxpayer deeply resentful and would cause almost any human being to undervalue his property to the Assessor. The average taxpayer would pay more willingly and report his possessions more accurately if he were not angrily conscious that he is paying for those who do not pay at all. Under such a system dishonesty is the best policy and returns a cash premium.

The principle of the personal property tax, penalizing householders for providing their families with the best homes they can afford, is bad enough. To administer it for the benefit of dishonest tax dodgers and to the detriment of honest men of small or large means is worse. The tax rate would be lower for all if all were made to pay equally.

The city hall, characteristically, is weighing the political alternatives. If politics were on the side of right there could be no argument. Moreover, if it be a question of counting noses there are unquestionably more voters in favor of fair tax administration than those who benefit by the present system.

If a system which penalizes the deserving and rewards the dishonest cannot be abolished it should be corrected as far as possible. The way has been pointed to the Aldermen and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which includes the Mayor.

KRUPPS MAKING STEEL TEETH.

When the Greek hero Jason voyaged with his companions, the Argonauts, to Colchis to bring back the famous Golden Fleece, he had to perform certain tasks, among which was the sowing of a lot of dragon's teeth. This looked easy, but as soon as these teeth fell into the furrows, up sprang an equal number of armed men, bent on slaying Jason and his fellows.

The sowing of dragon's teeth became a symbol of doing something from which the deer reaped a fatal harvest. Germany, as we all know, sowed her dragon's teeth in encouraging militarism, the will to conquest and an arrogant national spirit. That brought out a world of armed men, to Germany's irreparable injury.

But now, the great Krupp factories, which turned out the most effective of Germany's war weapons, are devoted to peaceful manufacture, the latest output being enameled steel teeth, made of the same steel which used to go into the "Big Berthas" and other fort-leveling guns. What a change! Good artificial teeth, lasting a lifetime, will be a blessing to the world. They will induce nothing but contentment and good will. They won't bite any enemies, and no one will have to gnash their teeth for injuries inflicted.

The Krupps as world dentists may earn more, with a better conscience, than the Krupps as makers of war weapons.

PAROLED BOYS' FRANKS.

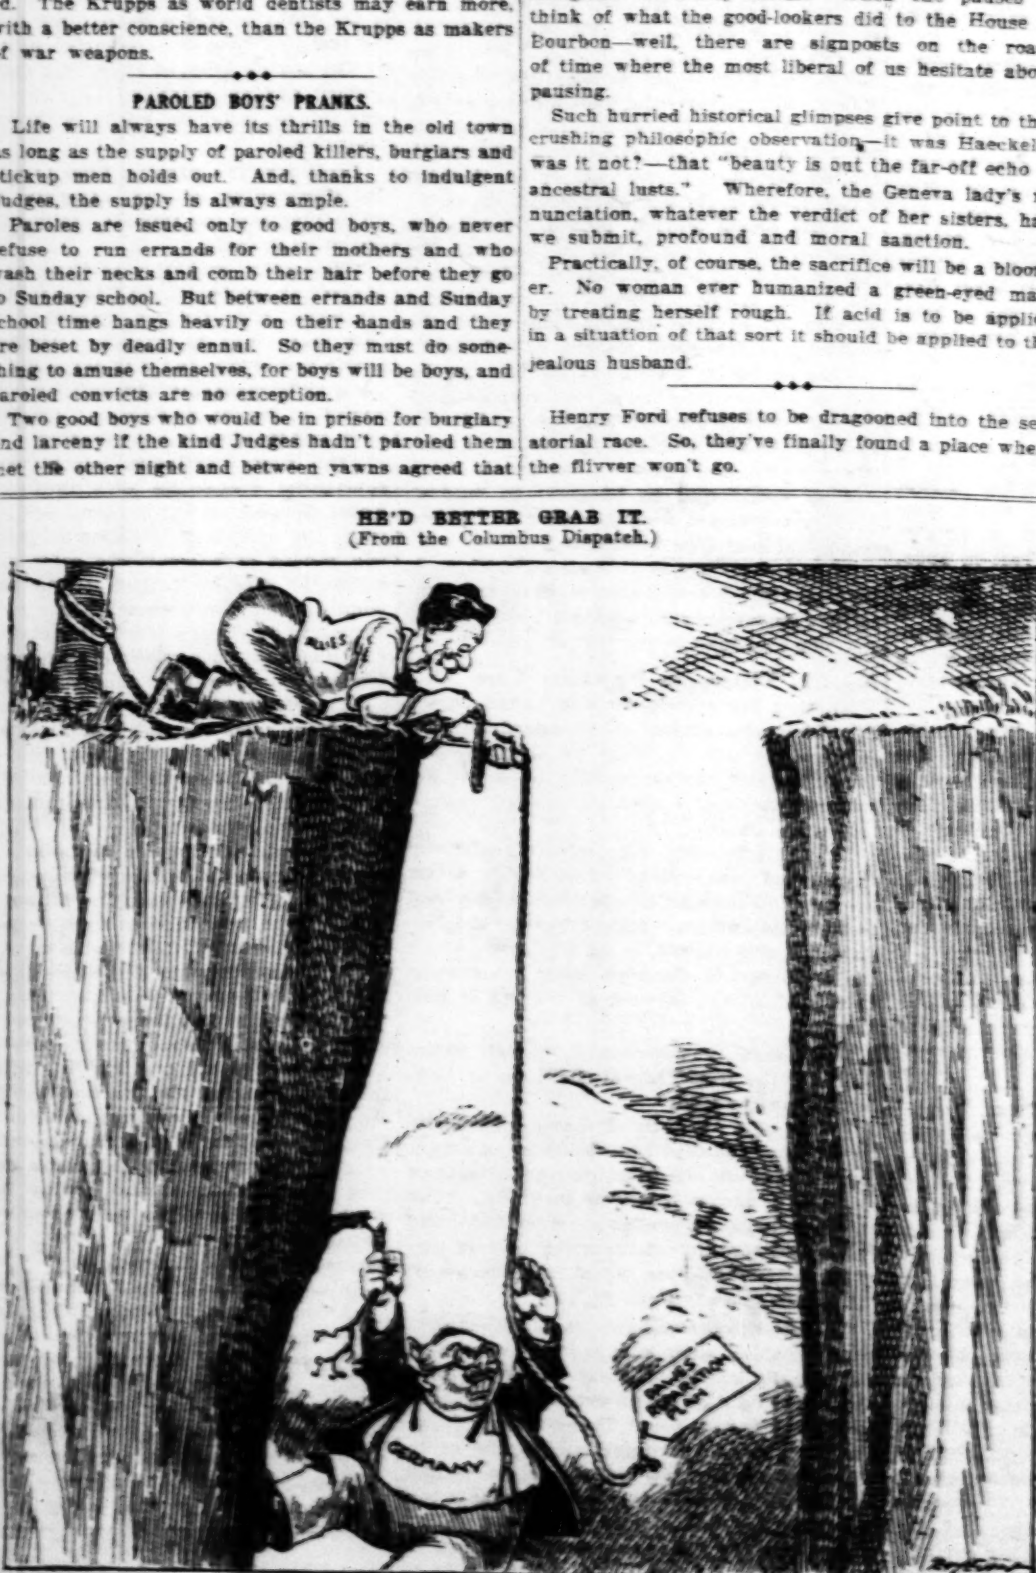

Life will always have its thrills in the old town as long as the supply of paroled killers, burglars and stickup men holds out. And, thanks to indulgent Judges, the supply is always ample.

Paroles are issued only to good boys, who never refuse to run errands for their mothers and who wash their necks and comb their hair before they go to Sunday school. But between errands and Sunday school time hangs heavily on their hands and they are beset by deadly ennui. So they must do something to amuse themselves, for boys will be boys, and paroled convicts are no exception.

Two good boys who would be in prison for burglary and larceny if the kind Judges hadn't paroled them met the other night and between yawns agreed that freedom was intolerable unless they could commit a few crimes. "Let's stick up this dry goods guy down the street," one of them said. "All right, let's," said the other.

HE'D BETTER GRAB IT.

(From the Columbus Dispatch.)

So, after seeing that their guns were in good working order, they held up the dry goods man and hit him on the head and took $22 from him, which meant $11 apiece for lollypops and plenty of pennies for Sunday school.

The police, given descriptions, promptly recognized the robbers as two of their very best little paroled boys and gathered them in. In due season they will be convicted. Will they again be paroled?

Another prediction like the one that Missouri is safely Republican ought to qualify Senator Spencer for the position of court jester.

THE POWER OF OIL MONOPOLY.

According to witnesses testifying in the hearing on gasoline prices conducted by Attorney-General Barrett competition in the sale of gasoline in Missouri is as free as it is in Soviet Russia. Retail dealers daily call up the Standard Oil agent to get instructions on the price. Rebates are given to favored customers. Price-cutters are warned to be "good," and if they do not take the warning they are punished.

One retailer who cut by steps from 20.5 to 14.9, at which he made money with a margin of 3.13 cents, suddenly found his supply cut off on one pretext or another by all the companies able to serve him.

The oil organization is kind. It does not want to hurt anybody but the inveterately gouged consumer. It only wants him to be "good." A representative of the Missouri Oil Men's Association, a witness relates, spent half a day with him, urging him to go up to the price of the other dealers. "Stabilizing," this is called. "There are so many Bolsheviks in the oil business," said the head of one company, "that we would all be in a hell of a fix were it not for this influence."

The enormously lucrative oil traffic must be closely watched by the State, not only for its monopolistic tendencies, but for its corrupting power in politics. With a perfect monopoly and the sky the limit in prices, the power of oil becomes appalling.

After reading Mr. Davis' speech Chairman Butler of the Republican National Committee is probably convinced that, so far from being a closed incident, Teapot Dome is a steaming issue.

BEAUTY, JEALOUSY AND ACID.

From Berlin comes the story of a Geneva woman who, finding herself afflicted with the curse of beauty and a jealous husband, tried to solve her difficulty by scarring her face with acid. What Madame Legion, indomitably striving for beauty, either lost in the years or, possibly, never possessed, will say as to such folly may easily be surmised and certainly may not be printed. Yet the act, in itself, may be justified both by history and philosophy.

What, pray, has been more destructive, not in the petty measure of individual vengeance, but on the vast scale of human destiny, than feminine loveliness? The face that launched a thousand ships against the toplest towers of Ilum set a fashion for poetry and statesmanship that has persisted through the centuries. And if only an earlier lover had given Cleopatra that richly deserved scold on the nose which anguish several estimable Roman matrons would have been spared, to say nothing of the slaughter of bloody fields! When one pauses to think of what the good-looking did to the House of Bourbon—well, there are signposts on the roads of time where the most liberal of us hesitate about pausing.

Such hurried historical glimpses give point to that crushing philosophic observation—it was Haeckel's, was it not?—that "beauty is out the far-off echo of ancestral lusts." Wherefore, the Geneva lady's renunciation, whatever the verdict of her sisters, has, we submit, profound and moral sanction.

Practically, of course, the sacrifice will be a bloomer. No woman ever humanized a green-eyed mate by treating herself rough. If acid is to be applied in a situation of that sort it should be applied to the jealous husband.

Henry Ford refuses to be dragged into the senatorial race. So, they've finally found a place where the silver won't go.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

Socrates: I suppose you young men are going to tune in on Coolidge tonight?
Glaucous: After all, he will have to say something.
Glaucous: Yes.
Socrates: All the other candidates, upon being notified of their nomination, have had something to say.

Polemarchus: Doesn't silence give consent?
Socrates: It often does. I think Coolidge would be entirely in character if it did in this case. A speech of acceptance is likely to be very long. It is questionable if anybody reads it.

Thrasymachus: I read them in spots.
Socrates: Precisely. No doubt the country would greatly enjoy having someone accept a presidential nomination not because he said he would take it, but because he never said he wouldn't.

Polemarchus: I am disappointed in Coolidge.
Socrates: I think we did have a right to expect that his acceptance would not follow the usual lines. In addition to his great reputation for silence there was the puzzle of what he could find to say. If the issue of the campaign is corruption in government, as Mr. Davis says, certainly Coolidge cannot talk about it.

Glaucous: Not comfortably.
Socrates: But if the issue is economic, as Mr. La Follette says it is, would you say he could talk about that?
Thrasymachus: Not volubly.

Socrates: No. As a matter of fact, I am surprised to hear that Coolidge is going to talk at all.
Polemarchus: The paper says 25,000,000 people are going to hear him.
Socrates: But it did not say how long.

Thrasymachus: Maybe he will talk about the weather.
Socrates: Perhaps he will. In that respect at least his record is perfect. We have at any rate not had to investigate the weather.

Glaucous: Jove, no!
Socrates: So that is settled. Now let us all try to be like Coolidge and not say anything for a while.

Among the German passengers who arrived on the American liner Mongolia a few days ago was Prof. Hugo Glueck, who holds the chair of botany at the University of Heidelberg. In the course of a three months' visit Prof. Glueck will travel through New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Massachusetts to study edible thistles with a view to introducing them into Germany for the people to use as an article of diet. When we think that they had Irish potatoes before the war, we can't help sympathizing with the widespread disposition not to do very much about defense day.

NOTIFICATION CORRESPONDENCE.

(By El Jay.)

Kale Kullage, Esq., Washington, D. C.
Sir: The Nominating Committee of the Doo Dang party wishes to know why it should or should not name you as its candidate for the presidency.

PLATO, XENAPHON, SIR THOR MOORE, BACON, CAMPANELLA.
Gentlemen:

My sole object for the last three years has been to be the next President. My reasons, however, for declining the nomination from your party are as follows:

1. My disposition won't permit it. I am a timid, cautious person who never forms an opinion. I have some persons already chosen to form opinions for me. So long as I talk about keeping down the income tax, I am told, I shall be considered brave, courageous and wise. I think I had better stick to that.

2. Your pension plank calls for pension; I am opposed to all pensions. They cost money. I am opposed to the principal and the interest.

3. Let us say, "What we spend we save," when I was near-President I always carried my lunch to the Senate and ate it alone. I made no friends, I ate my lunch alone, and I made no enemies. That is the kind of fellow I am.

4. You might want me to show myself to the public. My secretary, Schlimm, Schump of Virginia, says, "Don't do it; they'll beat you if you show yourself." I intend to stay at the office and let the correspondents tell how cautious, courageous and sagacious I am. The fellows who did see me decided that I couldn't be the next near-President. It will not do to let too many others see me.

KALE KULLAGE.

The anti-klanners of Texas, who have put Mrs. Ferguson upon the Democratic ticket for Governor, are opposing the mask and the sheet with the sunbonnet. They are circulating this song about it:

A Call to the Women of Texas.
(Tune: "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet.")
Get out your old-time bonnet
And put Miriam Ferguson on it
And hitch your wagon to her star,
So on election day
We each of us can say
Hurrah! Governor Miriam, hurrah!

Hurrah, hurrah, let's make our Texas free!
Hurrah, hurrah, hurrah!
Hurrah, hurrah, no masking sheets for me!
Hurrah, Governor Miriam, hurrah!

For in this fight for right Let each one do his might
In the broad open light
Of the day.
So when our votes come rolling on
At least $98,000 strong,
We'll all join in song,
Hurrah, Governor Miriam, hurrah!

Sir: The news is making old sayings over. A headline yesterday said:
Fireman's Quick Wit
Stops Robbery of Bank

Some one must have modernized the old cry by shouting, "Fireman, save my bank account!"
(P. S. Don't point out that this particular fireman works on a locomotive.)

The MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to represent without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and specialists on the questions of the day.

AN INDUSTRIAL PILGRIMAGE.

From the New Orleans Times-Picayune.
EARLY in September one of the most important industrial pilgrimages ever made to Mexico from the United States got under way. Managed by the American Manufacturers' Export Association, and under the Government's approval of Washington, the visit is to be at the invitation of Mayor Raya of Mexico City, and will coincide with the festivities attending the Mexican national holiday, Sept. 16. This day is not to be a "goods selling pilgrimage," as will be a commercial "call" to create a mutual understanding and to open the way for the freest relations. Many of the 100 American industrialists who will take up the party are business giants of our country and it is well understood that this is no junket, but a visit of serious and defined character in full keeping with its purpose. The special train carrying the distinguished body of American business men has been routed from New York City to St. Louis and Laredo, and the thought arises that New Orleans might be a good place for the party to end, and the business men to know first hand what must be done to secure best trade relations with Mexico, to be in a position to return home and put needed mechanism into operation.

A resolution was passed by a committee to have Congress pass a bill providing for the payment of all Civil War veterans at $12 a month; one married prior to 1911 army nurses, $10 a month; disabled, $15 a month; and disabled, $20 a month.

Mrs. Nellie Melba, Kan., was elected national president of the G. A. R. yesterday. She was elected national president of the Women's Relief Club.

THE LONDON CONFERENCE.
From The Nation.

EUROPE has declared peace. It seems to be the momentous outcome of the London conference. It may seem a momentous outcome despite the fact that the record of successive peace conferences which have come out of Europe since the peace of Versailles was signed more than five years ago. For the peace exists not merely in the fact of the London conference, but in the fact of the peace which it holds the peace. That is the peace of Ramsay MacDonald. He has more eager to create a pacific atmosphere in Europe than to win a political victory. He has more eager to create a pacific atmosphere in Europe than to win a political victory.

PLAGIARISM IS CHARGED AGAINST 'POLLY PREFERRED'

Russian Playwright Sues Guy Bolton, Saying Scenes Were Copied From "Personality."

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Charges of plagiarism in connection with the play, "Polly Preferred," which ran at the Little Theatre last year, and is now being produced in London, were made against Guy Bolton, playwright, yesterday in a suit before Federal Judge Garvin in Brooklyn by Ossip Dymov, Russian playwright.

In addition to Bolton, Dymov names Fray Comstock and Morris Geat, as defendants and seeks from $100,000 to $500,000 damages, the exact amount, if he succeeds in his suit, to depend upon the profits realized by an accounting.

"Polly Preferred," according to Dymov, is built upon ideas and situations taken from his play in the Russian, "Personality."

He testified yesterday that he made an agreement with Bolton in 1920 under which the latter was to adapt "Personality" for presentation here. He said he gave Bolton a manuscript of his play and that the latter kept it 11 months, assuring him from time to time that he was working on the adaptation.

Finally, Dymov testified, Bolton returned his manuscript and all relations between them were ended. Sometime after the return of his manuscript, Dymov said he saw "Polly Preferred" and recognized in it a disguised version of the ideas and situations in "Personality."

Abraham J. Halperin, Samuel R. Golding and Louis Karasik testified they had prepared 76 typewritten pages of parallels in action, situation and dialogue in the two plays, and that "Polly Preferred" was "a clear case of plagiarism." Their report was introduced in evidence. Bolton is in Europe.

ANN LUTHER LOSES IN COURT

Los Angeles Judge Dismisses Suit for $100,000 Damages.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 14.—Ann Luther, actress, yesterday lost her $100,000 breach of contract suit against Jack F. White, wealthy mining man, when Superior Judge Valentine dismissed the case.

The court, after characterizing the story of the two principals as the "most dissolute violation of decency that has ever come to my attention," said in its decision that "the court" will not become party to the wrongs done by these principals in this case. This court is a place for administration of law and justice and not a place for flagrant violation of the law. Judge Valentine dismissed the action on the ground that the verbal agreement between White and the actress fell "within the statute of fraud."

Discoverer of Them Shows Pictures to Back Theory of White Ancestor.

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—Richard O. Marsh, discoverer of the White Indians in Central America, has protested against judgments passed upon three young specimens of the tribe by anthropologists attending the convention of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

Marsh said examination of the children had been too hasty, denied their slight was below normal and asserted the impression that they were not mentally alert arose from their nervousness in meeting many strangers.

Showing pictures of the family of Brown Indians in which the White children had been born, Marsh insisted there must have been a white ancestor.

lines at a hopeless disadvantage in competing with it."

Davis argued and won a case which denied to railroad companies the right to make switching charges on industrial spur tracks; a case upholding the constitutionality of the income tax law of 1913; a case which makes it possible for the United States to cancel certificates of naturalization obtained by aliens through fraud; a case which saved to the Government $25,000,000 in sustaining a regulation issued by Postmaster-General Burleson changing the system of weighing mail carried on the railroads.

Argument on Draft Law.

Among the memorable cases in which he figured was that testing the constitutionality of the Selective Draft Act of 1917. Davis argued and won the case for the Government.

"The highest duty of the citizen," he said in the course of his argument, "is to bear arms at the call of the Nation. This duty is inherent in citizenship; without it and the correlative power of the state to compel its performance, society could not be maintained."

"Compulsory military service is not contrary to the spirit of democratic institutions, for the Constitution implies equitable distribution of the burdens no less than the privileges of citizenship."

Such, in epitome, is the record of John W. Davis as an advocate for the people before the Supreme and publisher of Labor Press, chief of the labor bureau.

He announced last evening that Davis had accepted an invitation from Gov. George Silser of New Jersey and would meet the New Jersey State Committee at Sea Grant on Aug. 22.

Asked about a report from Washington that many who had supported William G. McAdoo in the National Convention were disappointed by the dropping of J. Bruce Kremer of Montana as vice chairman of the National Committee and the substitution of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Spelacy said:

"I have received nothing but pledges of support from everyone."

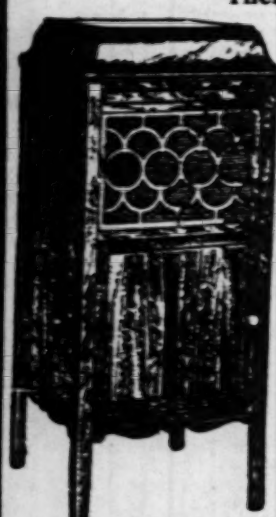

There isn't a particle of friction that I know of and if anyone is dissatisfied we get reaction quickly. There are no McAdoo men now, nor Smith men—they are all Democrats."

THIRD FATALITY IN FAMILY OF MILLERS

Edwardsville Man's, Great-Grandfather and Grandfather Were Killed.

L. G. Miller, 49 years old, head miller for the Blake Milling Co. at Edwardsville, died today in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Granite City, of injuries suffered Tuesday when caught in underground machinery of the mill.

The death of Miller, who was the fourth head miller in the direct line of descent in his family, is the third fatality through mill machinery accidents in the family line. His great-grandfather and his grandfather were killed in Texas, while his father, still living, was seriously injured in Oklahoma in an accident similar to his son's.

Miller's accident came when he was walking in a tunnel connecting the Blake mill with its storage elevator about 75 feet away. The flooring of the tunnel is the sectional covering for the steel conveyor screw which carries grain from the mill to the elevator. Workmen had just repaired it, and Miller, preparing to let wheat into it, stepped through an opening left uncovered.

Men in the mill, unaware that anyone was in the tunnel, started the machinery, and Miller was swept against the next section, his lower limbs jamming in the machinery. This caused the belt in the mill to fly off, but the men there replaced it, and the restarted machinery jammed him farther along the conveyor before the belt flying off again caused an investigation.

Every bone in Miller's lower limbs was crushed, but he was still conscious when carried into the mill. "Boy, I've been talking about making a will for some time, but I've never done it," he said. "I guess I've got just about time enough left now."

With his assistant and the others as witnesses, Miller drew up the document and directed that it be placed in the office safe, where he told his wife when she had been summoned, that it would be found. He was then hurried to the hospital, living two days before the shock and other injuries caused his death.

Besides his widow, he is survived

DR. WIEDELDT TO QUIT AS GERMAN ENVOY NEXT MONTH

Washington Hears Cuno May Succeed Ambassador, Who Requested to Be Relieved.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, German Ambassador to the United States, will surrender his diplomatic post and return to Germany on Sept. 10, having requested that he be relieved by the government in order to return to private life.

The Ambassador declined today to make any statement. It was learned from other sources, however, that he came to Washington in May, 1923, on an understanding with the Berlin government that he would be permitted to retire at the expiration of two years.

The appointment of Dr. William Cuno, former German Chancellor, to succeed Dr. Wiedfeldt in Washington, is generally expected in diplomatic circles here. There is no indication, however, that his name has yet been submitted by the German Government to the State Department.

by a daughter, 17, and a 16-year-old son. The latter, seriously ill with pneumonia, has not been told of his father's accident.

HER BABY BORN, SLAYER OF HUSBAND WILL BE EXECUTED

Czech Woman's Execution Had Been Postponed for Event—Money Gift for Infant.

BRUNN, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 14.—The execution of Frau Heria Hanika, for the murder of her husband, which was recently postponed because she was about to become a mother, will take place soon, according to an announcement by authorities.

The day after the child was born, 20,000 Czech crowns (approximately $600) arrived at the prison in which Frau Hanika is confined, with instructions that the money should be turned over to the infant, a girl, when she reached the age of 18.

Frau Hanika's husband was an army Captain and, according to the court records, she plotted with a man early this year to kill him because she was tired of him. The wife, on the stand, declared that she was not in love with her accomplice, and contended that she had always been faithful to her husband, but was obsessed with the idea that she must obtain freedom from her marriage vows.

Accused of Threatening Family.

William Krazer, a Turkey Hill farmer, was held under bond of $500 in each of two cases on charges of threatening to kill his wife and daughter, Mrs. Nora Krazer and Miss Grace Krazer. The wife charges her husband threatened her life with a shotgun and the daughter declares he threatened to decapitate her with a corn knife during an argument over a division of the property after husband and wife had decided to separate. The case will be tried Aug. 15 before Justice Eggersmann.

STANDARD OIL CO. OPERATES IN STATE UNDER A PAROLE

Supreme Court Has Jurisdiction to Vacate Suspension of Ouster Order Granted in 1909.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 14.—The Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, named by witnesses in the State's gasoline price inquiry here as the dominating influence in the Missouri field, is operating in Missouri by virtue of a suspension by the State Supreme Court of an ouster order issued against the company in 1909, following conviction of violating the State antitrust laws—in effect a parole—and jurisdiction to vacate the suspension order still is retained by the Supreme Court.

This suspension, staying the ouster during good behavior of the company, provided that the Attorney-General, at any time, might move for vacation of the suspension, to make the ouster effective, upon a showing of any further violation of the State's laws.

The Supreme Court also reserved the right, independent of any action by the Attorney-General, to institute an inquiry and, upon a hearing, to modify or vacate the suspension order, if it desired. The order provided the defendants should have a right to submit evidence at the hearing.

Attorney-General Barrett has declined to comment on what course he will pursue at the conclusion of the present preliminary inquiry into gasoline prices. However, it was pointed out today by attorneys that if he proceeds against the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, he would not necessarily have to file a new antitrust action, but could file with the Supreme Court a motion to set aside the suspension order to make the ouster effective, accompanied by a transcript of the testimony taken in the present inquiry to support whatever charges are made in his motion.

Whether the suspension of the ouster would be vacated would be within the discretion of the Supreme Court, following a hearing upon the charges as provided in the suspension order.

As has been related, the preliminary inquiry was instituted by Attorney-General Barrett under a section of the antitrust laws, to determine whether grounds exist for filing an antitrust proceeding against the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana and possibly other oil companies operating in the State. Hearings were held last Monday and Tuesday and will be resumed here Aug. 20. Five officers of the Standard company have been summoned as witnesses and Barrett has requested the production of numerous books and records of the company.

Antitrust proceedings were instituted against the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana and other companies by Herbert S. Hadley, now chancellor of Washington University, St. Louis, when he was Attorney-General. On March 9, 1909, shortly after Hadley's time expired, the State Supreme Court handed down a decision finding the Standard company and others guilty of violating the State antitrust laws. The Standard was fined $50,000 and ordered ousted from the State.

Affirmed by U. S. Court. The case was appealed to the United States Supreme Court and there affirmed during the term of Elliott W. Major as Attorney-General. The Standard company paid its fine, but moved for suspension of the ouster. On June 28, 1913, during the term of John T. Barker as Attorney-General, the Supreme Court suspended the ouster subject to the following conditions: "1. This court retains jurisdiction of the case for the purpose of rendering and entering therein any further and necessary orders and judgments with reference to the stay and suspension of the writ of ouster herein granted.

4. To the end that the jurisdiction of this court may not be questioned this case is kept open and the jurisdiction thereof retained for all the purposes aforesaid."

The present inquiry into gasoline prices was instituted through a petition filed by the State's Attorney for appointment of a commissioner to hear witnesses. De Witt Chastain of Butler, Mo., was appointed by the court. The commissioner will not make any findings, but merely will certify the record of the hearings.

SOCIALIST-LABOR PARTY NOMINEE OUTLINES POLICY

Frank T. Johns of Spokane Would Establish New Method of Control of Government Procedure.

GOVERNING BODY COMPOSED OF UNIONS

Candidate, 35 Years Old and a Carpenter, Will Speak Tonight at the Odeon.

Capture of present governmental machinery, local, state and national, not for the purpose of control, but that the system may be entirely cast aside and a new method of control of society by representatives of producers be established, is the aim of the Socialist Labor party, Frank T. Johns of Spokane, Wash., its nominee for President, said in an interview here today.

Johns, who is 35 years old and a carpenter, arrived last night from Kansas City. He was escorted to Hotel Statler by a reception committee headed by W. W. Cox of St. Louis, Socialist Labor candidate for Governor. Johns will speak at the Odeon tonight.

"In the society of the future every individual will be affiliated with some union," he said. "The national governing body, corresponding to the present Congress, will be composed of representatives chosen by those employed in various industries. All will be represented. There will be no capitalist class, because collective ownership will obtain."

"Local governmental affairs will be similarly conducted by representatives of the various local industries. These representatives will be chosen by vote of all workers. Nationally, the system of territorial representation will be abolished. The bricklayers' representative in the new Congress will represent those in New York and in California. New York as a State will not be represented. But every industry in New York will have a voice."

The proposed proportion of representation has not been determined by the Socialist Labor party, Johns said, but he anticipates that under such a plan unions with many members would have more representatives than those with few.

"There is a great distinction between collective ownership and government ownership," he continued. "Under Government ownership the producers are dominated by executives, not of their own choosing, as they are now dominated in private enterprise. Under collective ownership they will have a direct voice in the selection of the management of their particular industry."

Capitalism no longer promotes the greatest good of the greatest numbers, he said. Production is carried on, not to supply the needs of humanity, but for the profit of the individual owner, company or trust, he added.

To speak on East Side, the nominee added, hopes to gain its ends by consent of a majority vote that it assume control of government and the transition will be a peaceful one if capital submits to the majority will. "But if capital seeks to oppose the majority will, then the majority must use its force of numbers to bring compliance," he said. "We hope for a bloodless revolution, but whether it will be so or not rests with the capitalist class."

Johns will speak in Granite City tomorrow night, in East St. Louis Saturday night and at a picnic at Mollenbrook's Park, east of Granite City, Sunday afternoon. He goes to Springfield, Ill., Monday. His itinerary will take him to all parts of the East.

FORMER GOVERNOR BROUGH PRAISES ABILITY OF DAVIS

Arkansas, Who Nominated Senator
Robinson, Says Candidate Appeals to Public.

Former Gov. Charles H. Brough of Arkansas, who nominated Senator Joseph T. Robinson at the recent Democratic national convention, spoke enthusiastically of the Democratic nominee for President last night. Brough, who is now a Chattanooga speaker, was a visitor in St. Louis for a few hours.

"Mr. Davis ranks as one of the leaders of the American bar and was one of the most brilliant of our Ambassadors to the Court of St. James," he said. "He has a winsome personality, and while dignified, is intensely human. Moreover, he is endowed with those basic virtues of honesty, fair play and open-mindedness which appeal to the American people." Brough expressed his belief that the broadness of the La Follette-Wheeler ticket in the Northwest would cut heavily in the electoral vote, rendering to the Democrat of the Democrats.

FIRST POSTOFFICE BOXES DESIGNED BY CLERK IN 1810

Postmaster-General Accepts Claim of Descendant of Richmond Inventor of Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The Thomas Brown, a clerk in the Richmond (Va.) postoffice in 1810, has been given official credit for having invented the "postoffice box."

While there are no postoffice department records to show that Brown was the first to make and put the postoffice box in use, there is nothing on file to disprove the claim, made for him by his great granddaughter, Miss Mary D. Lewis of Tallahassee, Fla.

Postmaster-General New, therefore, has replied to a letter from Miss Lewis, presenting the claim, by stating he is ready to give Brown the benefit of the doubt and acknowledge him as the inventor.

Brown's memories, published some time after his death, fully set forth the circumstances leading to the invention. He wrote: "I was the inventor or planner of the postoffice boxes. These were of times of embargo, nonintercourse, etc., and of course speculation was rife. The first news was important and therefore, there was always a great rush to the postoffice as soon as the mail came in, for letters. The universal plan was to hand out letters from a round pane of glass in front and bearing the name of the box holder at the open end. About 400 boxes were quickly engaged at 50 cents for each three months. Brown's plan is still used."

Sons Were in Army.

OSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The service flag which hung from Sagamore Hill, home of the late Theodore Roosevelt, during the World War, has been presented to the Memorial Museum at Roosevelt House, New York City.

The flag, measuring three by four feet, and of the familiar red and white design, has four blue stars worked in the center. It fluttered from an upper window of the Colonel's Oyster Bay home. It was placed there the day of enlistment of the first member of the family and not removed until the last of the Roosevelts returned from overseas service.

The four sons were all decorated for bravery in action. Two of them were wounded and one killed.

CHEESE FACTORIES IN OZARKS

New Company to Operate in 20 Towns.

By the Associated Press. SARCOTIE, Mo., Aug. 14.—So great has the dairy industry become in Southwest Missouri that plans for the organization of a corporation to finance and construct a chain of cheese factories in 20 Ozark towns are now being perfected.

The corporation proper, according to plans made known by H. O. Smith of the Ozark Development Association, would be made up of local companies, one in each town and each capitalized at $3500, making a total of $70,000 for the 20 towns. The remaining $30,000 probably will be supplied by Springfield interests. Springfield will be the central station of the chain of factories, as it is already the hub of dairying in the Ozark region.

Fully 60 per cent of the fruit consumed here comes from the United States.

WHISKY RUNNERS TO BE PROSECUTED UNDER TARIFF LAW

Under That Statute More Severe Penalty Can Be Imposed Than Under Volstead Act.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
28-29 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—A decision announced by the Department of Justice yesterday that whisky smugglers would be dealt with under the tariff act instead of the Volstead law is considered a drastic step by the administration to enforce prohibition in a businesslike way.

It relieves Prohibition Commissioner Haynes of part of his responsibility and turns it over to the Division of Customs.

The reason assigned for this change is that the Volstead law provision on smuggling is "toothless." It is believed this is a movement on the part of the President to show voters that the dry law is going to be enforced.

Under Section 593 of the Tariff Act, smugglers are liable to imprisonment in the penitentiary and a fine of $5000, which is a much heavier penalty than is provided in the national prohibition act.

The announcement of the new program by the Department of Justice says: "Two such prosecutions under the Tariff Act have just resulted in a victory for the government in the southern district of Texas. Sentences in these cases ranged around eighteen months in the penitentiary and fines of $5000."

Under the national prohibition act for the first offense a fine of $500, and confiscation but no penitentiary sentence is possible. Under the revised statutes varying sentences are possible under old smuggling statutes.

Destroyers to Patrol New England Coast.
BOSTON, Aug. 14.—Navy Department plans to assist the Coast Guard service in establishing a blockade to keep liquor out of Boston and provisions away from the rum fleet off this port were announced by Roy A. Haynes, Federal Prohibition Commissioner here yesterday.

A law enforcement fleet of destroyers and mine sweepers soon to be put at the disposal of the dry forces will patrol the New England coast in an effort to rid the sea of contraband smugglers, he said.

LEAGUE ARMAMENT BODY TO MEET AT GENEVA, AUG. 28

Interests Manifested in View of Plans Under Way for Military Control of Germany.

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, Aug. 14.—In view of the plans now being discussed in London and Paris for the eventual turning over of military control of Germany to the League of Nations, great interest is attached here to the meeting of the permanent advisory commission on military, naval and air questions, which will assemble at Geneva, Aug. 23, to prepare the project of League supervision.

The project previously outlined provides for the appointment of a commission which would serve under the direction of the council of the League and would be composed of one expert from each state represented at the council, with additional experts fixed in accordance with the importance of the investigation.

In connection with the disarmament question, it is recalled that the assembly of the League accepted the report of the League disarmament commission recommending that any investigation of military conditions in Germany and also in Bulgaria, Austria and Hungary should have a general character, and emphasized that real disarmament could not be hoped for unless the measures laid down in the peace treaties were loyally carried out.

Justices of the league recently ruled that countries like Greece, Roumania and Yugoslavia, which have an interest in the armament situation of the central powers, cannot sit on the council of the League when the question of military investigation is being considered.

The forthcoming meeting of the League's military commission, the French members will present the views of the French general staff, as to how the German control may best be carried out.

$200,000 SUIT IS RESULT OF 'BREAK THE SLATE' MANIFESTO

Dr. Thomas E. Rhodes, Defeated

A suit asking $200,000 damages was filed in the Circuit Court, yesterday, by Dr. Thomas E. Rhodes, defeated candidate for the Republican nomination for coroner at the recent primary, being directed against the 10 signers of a manifesto and sample ballot widely distributed under the sponsorship of the "Republican Citizens' Committee."

Dr. Rhodes charges that his name and that of two other aspirants, those for whom he was campaigning, were scratched on the sample ballot, which carried an address asking the voters to break the "bosses' slate." He avers he was not the candidate of a "machine," but of his friends, and, as a result, his earning power as a physician and surgeon has been impaired and he has been deprived of standing in the eyes of "law-abiding and virtuous citizens."

The defendants are C. F. Blanke, Oliver T. Remmers, Harry Langenberg, Jacob Mosberg, Frank Hargenjos, Joseph C. Topic, John Volz, N. E. Meleto, William E. Fuettner, and Joseph Hauser.

Convicted Off Man Is Pardoned.

By the Associated Press. LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 14.—Clarence L. Bell, former president and general manager of the Bourbon Oil and Development Co., with offices here and at Paris, Ky., was recently convicted of embezzlement in Bourbon Circuit Court at Paris, and sentenced to three years in State prison, was granted a pardon yesterday by Gov. Fields who, after an examination of records in the case, brands Bell's conviction as "a gross miscarriage of justice."

LA FOLLETTE NOTIFIED OF LABOR INDORSEMENT

Secretary Morrison Says There Will Be No Turning Back In Campaign.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Officially notifying Senator La Follette of Wisconsin of the indorsement given his presidential candidacy and that of his running mate, Senator Wheeler of Montana, by the American Federation of Labor's executive council, a committee, headed by Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation, declared today that every honorable effort would be exerted to bring about the election of the independent candidates.

"We are instructed to say to you for President, Comrade," Morrison told La Follette, "that we are for you and for Senator Wheeler, that we are for you without restriction, and that so far as the 1934 presidential tickets and platforms of the two old parties are concerned, we have burned our bridges. The fight is on."

"Our examination of the platforms has shown us beyond question that both the Republican and Democratic platforms are unacceptable—a word, by the way, that seems not to be clearly understood in some quarters. We hope to make it better understood as time passes."

"What applies to platforms applies to candidates. We find in either case no hope for the wage earners of the country. We find the candidates of both parties wholly unacceptable."

"As our report makes clear, we have found the platform upon which you are a candidate, for President and upon which Senator Wheeler is a candidate for Vice President is more acceptable to labor, more nearly meets labor's aspirations and more nearly meets the needs of the great masses of people of our country and in particular those for whom we speak, than does any other platform now before the people."

When he called on La Follette, Morrison was accompanied by James O'Connell, president of the federation's metal trades department, and by Martin F. Ryan, president of the Railway Carmen of America. All three are members of the federation's Nonpartisan Political Campaign Committee.

Senator La Follette, responding informally to the message of the federation, expressed his appreciation and said he would make a more formal and extended reply in the near future.

La Follette was accompanied by James O'Connell, president of the federation's metal trades department, and by Martin F. Ryan, president of the Railway Carmen of America. All three are members of the federation's Nonpartisan Political Campaign Committee.

SHOTS ONE AUTO PROWLER, AND CAPTURES ANOTHER

Policeman, Former Track Athlete, Proves Ability to Sprint; Prisoner Admits Jail Record.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Patrolman Robert McAllister, who has shattered numerous track records and was restored to duty two months ago following his exoneration after eight months' suspension for a liquor raid without a warrant, shot one alleged automobile thief yesterday and arrested another. Surgeons say the wounded man will die.

McAllister, exonerated of both bribery and perjury charges brought when he was a detective on Commissioner Enright's special service squad, was restored to duty as a uniformed patrolman.

The man he shot yesterday is Vincent Figuera, 34 years old, now in St. Luke's hospital with a bullet near his heart. The man he arrested is Joseph Dandio, 25, charged with attempted grand larceny. The police say each man has a long criminal record.

Before going on duty yesterday, McAllister was instructed to watch for three men acting suspiciously on his beat. When he saw three men tampering with the door locks of an automobile, he asked what they were doing. Figuera, it is said, immediately grabbed the patrolman's night stick and sought to strike McAllister on the head. McAllister dropped Figuera with a bullet.

Dandio and the third man ran. McAllister abandoned the track sometime ago to have his tenor voice cultivated for grand opera but he still was fleet enough to capture Dandio. The third man escaped. Police say Figuera admitted fifteen convictions and Dandio three.

GIRL FREED ON HER PROMISE TO MARRY 'AN HONEST MAN' She Keeps Her Word, Becoming Worker's Bride as Her Rival Starts to Prison.

By the Associated Press. CINCINNATI, Aug. 14.—A girl, 21 years old, giving her name as Jeanette Sweeney, Cincinnati, after pleading guilty to a charge of receiving stolen goods, gained her liberty yesterday by promising to marry "an honest man."

The girl was reported engaged to two men—Everett Lurbin, Newport (Ky.) steel worker, and Ralph O'Neil, former companion of Miss Sweeney, who was being taken to the penitentiary to serve a term for robbery. Both wanted to marry the girl.

Learning that the charge against the girl grew out of her association with O'Neil, and being informed that Durbin desired to marry her at once, Judge John A. Caldwell said: "I will continue this matter for four months. If you two get married immediately, report to me at that time and I will dispose of the matter."

Thanking the Court, the couple were married before leaving the courthouse.

O'Neil was taken to the penitentiary to serve a sentence for robbery of several homes, among them that of John W. Peck, former United States District Judge.

"FORGET-ME-NOTS" TO BE SOLD FOR SOLDIERS AGAIN

Organizations Throughout Country Will Ask for Aid for Veterans Nov. 8.

By the Associated Press. CINCINNATI, Aug. 14.—Wounded and disabled veterans of the World War, patients in hospitals and institutions in various parts of the United States, will devote much of their time to making little paper and cloth forget-me-not flowers, to be sold throughout the country on Nov. 8, "National Forget-Me-Not day."

Raymond A. Lammie, national adjutant of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, said that preparations for the observance of this day already had been made by national and state officers. The flowers, as in former years, will be distributed by young women, the proceeds of the sale to be used to obtain legislative aid, hospitalization welfare and rehabilitation assistance of disabled veterans. The want of the veterans will be administered through the national organization, which now has a membership of 100,000.

Numerous women's organizations, veterans' societies and fraternal orders have signified their intention of again lending their support and co-operation to the activities of the workers.

ACTORS BARRED FROM HOME OF MARIE CORELLI BY WILL

Life Interest in Author's Estate Is Bequeathed to Miss Vyver.

By the Associated Press. STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England, July 28.—The late Marie Corelli left an estate valued at about $150,000, and bequeathed all of her property to Miss Bertha Vyver, her lifelong companion.

Mason Court, Miss Corelli's Stratford residence, is to be preserved intact with its garden and paddock, and after Miss Vyver's death, it is to be preserved for the benefit and service of distinguished persons visiting Stratford-on-Avon from far countries. These visitors are to be selected and recommended to Miss Corelli's trustees by the council of the Society of Authors.

Miss Corelli, however, "absolutely excludes actors, actresses, and all persons connected with the stage," and "most strictly enjoins that no persons connected with Stratford-on-Avon, officially or otherwise, shall be permitted to co-operate or be concerned in the carrying out of the trust."

DAN KINSEY AND JACKSON SCHOLZ WIN 3 FIRSTS IN DUBLIN GAMES

Harold Osborne Sets New Record For High Jump

Olympic Champion Leaps 5 Feet, 3 5/8 Inches in Standing Jump.

SCHOLZ SETS A RECORD

Wins 200-Meter Dash in 1-5 of Second Faster Time Than He Made at Olympic Games.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DUBLIN, Aug. 14.—America had her day in the Taittann Games yesterday with Harold Osborne of the Illinois A. C. and Dan Kinsey and Jackson V. Scholz, two St. Louisans, monopolizing first places and the attention of a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Kinsey, appearing in the decathlon competition, a new field for him, is giving Harold Osborne, the world's decathlon champion, a merry fight for the lead and the two have divided every first and second place in the four events thus far completed. Kinsey yesterday won the 400-meter run and finished second to Osborne in the 15-pound shot put (both decathlon events).

Scholz shared highest honors for the day with Osborne, winning the 200-meter dash in 21 1/5 seconds which is one-fifth of a second faster than his winning time in the recent Olympic games. Carr of Australia, and Coffee of Canada, finished second and third.

Kinsey in a New Role. Kinsey's pace in the decathlon, in which he is preating Osborne, is a surprise to his teammates. He has won the 100-yard dash and the 400-meter run and he has finished second in the other two events, the 15-pound hammer throw and the 16-pound shot.

Yesterday he added to his list of firsts by taking the final in the 110-meter hurdles in the open competition, finishing easily ahead of Porritt of New Zealand in 15 3/5 seconds and establishing a new Irish record. Conway of Ireland was third.

Taylor to Run Today. Director Walsh of the games, addressing the overseas athletes at a dinner last night, said the Irish people were grateful to the athletes for the manner in which they had acquitted themselves.

Further thrilling contests are expected today when Lavin, the Irish champion, will meet first Americans, Englishmen, Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders in the 400-meter run. F. Morgan Taylor of Grinnell College, Iowa, is expected to do well in the 400-meter hurdles.

O'Grady of Ireland, who holds the world's record for throwing the 28-pound weight, will meet Matt McGrath and Pat McDonald of New York in this event.

The Little American group took six first places in the seven track and field events on yesterday's program, the only one being lost going to Winter of Australia in the hop, step and jump. Osborne finished second.

Osborne's jumping was a revelation to the great crowd. He broke the Irish record in the standing high jump with a leap of 5 feet 3 5/8 inches. He took the running high jump, as expected, at 6 feet 3 1/4 inches and the three standing jumps event in addition to the standing high jump.

Pat McGrath Wins Hammer. In the hop, step and jump, Winter of Australia won with 45 feet 2 1/4 inches. Osborne was second with 45 feet 3 1/4 inches and Connor of Ireland third with 44 feet 8 inches.

Pat McGrath, United States, won the 16-pound hammer event with a throw of 163 feet 11 inches. Ryan of Ireland was second with 145 feet 11 inches and Byrne of Ireland third with 143 feet. Pat McDonald, New York, was unplaced.

In the final of the high jump, Osborne cleared the bar at 6 feet 4 1/4 inches, while in the three standing jumps he gained the victory with a leap of 32 feet 5 inches. In the latter event A. W. Winter of Australia was second with 31 feet 10 1/4 inches and Power of Ireland third with 30 feet 1 inch.

In the decathlon, Osborne tossed the shot 32 feet 6 inches, while Kinsey was second with 29 feet. Shanahan of Ireland finishing third with 31 feet.

There were no Americans in the tennis contest, which was won by South Africa, or in the 200-meter swimming free style, which was won by Charles of Australia, with two other Australians, Henry and Stedman, in second and third places.

Anderson Handball Victor. J. J. Henry of the United States defeated O'Reilly by three games to one in the deciding match of a handball tournament of the Taittann games today.

O'Reilly was the first Irishman to win a single game from the American, who crossed with heavy accuracy, killed at will and picked hands. The score was 21-15, 21-11, 21-12. Brennan of Ireland defeated O'Donnell of the United States, 21-15, 21-12, 21-12.

JOE AND ASBESTOS—After All Those Scratches They're Itching for a Winner o o o By Ken Kling

Wray's Column

Blood Doesn't Always Tell.

MAN O' WAR, considered by most turf experts the greatest American thoroughbred in history and by many the greatest produced anywhere in any time, is making good in the difficult task of transmitting his own speed to his progeny.

With the human race, as in the horse race, great sons of great fathers are not the rule. In fact, if the records were combed, it would be hard to find half a dozen instances in all history where a famous father produced a son equally or even approximately as successful in the same field as his daddy.

None in the Fight Game.

THE boxing world produced only one instance that we recall—Young Bob Fitzsimmons, and he is but the shadowy semblance of his famous sire, in ring ability.

College football has brought forth a Poe Jr., a Camp Jr. and one or two other fair successes. The sports world might point to young Bernard Wefers. The professional baseball world fails to show any instance of transmitted baseball talent.

Thus the chances are all against Man o' War developing progeny able to attract attention in the racing world. Nevertheless, of the first get of Man o' War to be prepared for the races thus far, three already have entered the winning class, two of them twice victors in successive starts—American Flag and by Hissel. Several have not yet been to the post.

American Flag Fast.

THE victory of two volts Tuesday at Saratoga was worthy of note. American Flag, over a muddy track, showed a speed that was really unusual. He covered the distance in 1:00 1/5, on a track that was from three to four seconds slow to the mile. He beat the other Man o' War victor of the day, By Hissel, by 12-3 seconds, over the same distance and track.

Undoubtedly this is a good 2-year-old, but time will be required to prove if he is worthy of his sire.

In the meantime, a horse that can run five furlongs in 1 minute, in the mud, is SOME horse.

Had By Hissel been running in the same race with his half-brother, yesterday, he would have finished 45 feet behind his near relative.

And 45 feet looks like a big gap on a race track. To be exact it is three strides of the mighty Man o' War himself, whose hoofprints, when in full career, tap 22 feet apart.

A Real Champion.

HAROLD OSBORNE, who surpassed the hitherto unequalled record of Indian Jim Thorpe when he won the 1924 Olympic decathlon at Paris, is one of the few athletes who stand head and shoulders above his field. Champions of this type are rare; if one develops in a decade it is the exception.

Osborne proved himself as an outstanding athlete this week in the Taittann games in Dublin. In these contests were revived seven events that have been off the list of standard athletic contests, both in the United States and on the Olympic calendar—the standing high, standing broad and triple standing jumps.

Called upon to compete in each of these events at Dublin without specialization or practice, Osborne came through with some remarkable performances. Here is what he did:

Standing broad—49 feet 5 inches.
Standing high—5 feet 3 5/8 inches.
Triple—32 feet 6 inches.

Patterson Wins First Set From Shimizu, 7-5

Australian and Japanese Davis Cup Series Opens at Providence.

By the Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 14.—Gerald L. Patterson of Australia defeated Zeno Shimizu of Japan in straight sets, 7-5, 11-9, 6-4, in the first singles match of the final round of play in the American Davis cup competition here today.

Osborne is not a broad jumper, but even so, his feat, by comparison with world's records and in view of his lack of specialization, are truly remarkable.

High Cost of Polo.

AMONG the pastimes that may be counted as prohibitive to the average person because of cost is polo. The polo player requires a stable of trained ponies, whose high cost is shown in the recent sale in the East, where three nags to be used by the American polo four in their international matches with England at Meadowbrook, sold for $30,000.

A player's stable costing $10,000 would not be fanciful and for a squad of six players, regulars and alternates, the team's total horse bill might range between $25,000 and $40,000.

Other sports ranking with polo in cost to the dilettante, might include speed boat racing, international yacht racing and promoting open air wrestling matches in St. Louis.

Our National Sport Bill.

THE high cost of auto transportation to the United States causes Mr. Citizen to gasp, when it is totaled. What would he say if he figured up the annual sports bill of the American public, of which automobilism is only a part?

Lump all the money spent by the 10,000,000 or more persons who see major league ball games, the millions who see college football contests, auto races, boat races, prize fights, hockey, tennis, bowling, billiards, etc. Toss in the cost of equipment for all sorts of sports; the $300,000 stadium built solely for college and civic pastimes; the clubhouse, the park, grounds and golf links; then toss in the cost of getting to these games in automobiles and try to reckon the number of billions of dollars it all represents.

And yet there are those who think sports are piffle, that they are not a major part of the world's affairs, and that those engaged in promoting and forwarding the recreation of a nation are idlers and triflers.

Capitalizing Sports. OUR amateurs are sorely tempted. It may be that some of them slip and sprain their amateur status, now and then.

Bill Tilden is about to suffer a compound fracture of his spongy putty, next year, when the official ruling that being paid a salary for writing tennis makes him a "pro" goes into effect.

If Bill's case is reprehensible, what is to be said of athletes who lend their names for advertising purposes to resorts, hotels and even to steamship lines? We had heard of smugling college stars of reputation to play baseball, golf, tennis and what not to establish the reputation of a resort. But the very newest thing of which we have read is that steamship lines are snaring college athletes of standing as "come-on" for their cruises. The "Big Three" (Harvard, Yale and Princeton) is represented at the present time on a steamship excursion to Scandinavia by Big

The Time Is Now. AMERICA had grave trouble in raising funds for the 1924 Olympic games. A shortage of $111,000 was reported when the committee in charge of raising money to send our boys abroad turned to their totals.

A few sportsmen made up the deficit, and that is not right when the affair is one of national pride and loyalty.

For the 1928 Olympic games the time to start raising the fund is right now. We should have all sorts of times due to downhill tracks, wind at the back and varying timing methods. Fortunately, the A. A. U. insists on a standard of conditions prevailing when records are recognized.

Johnston and Brookes Reach Semifinals in Newport Tourney

Australian Veteran Picked by Norton to Advance to Penultimate Round, Wins Two Matches — Snodgrass Wins Fourth Round Contest.

By the Associated Press.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 14.—R. I. C. Norton, formerly of the South African Davis cup forces, had his troubles in defeating the veteran, W. J. Johnston of Philadelphia, in the starred match of the Casino cup lawn tennis singles today. Norton, now a resident of St. Louis, had to put forth the best of his stop valleys to overcome the national champion of 1906 in three long sets. The score was 7-5, 2-6, 6-4.

Clothier held mostly to a back court position. His driving for passes was unusually strong, so that he forced many of the games to deuce points.

Johnston made a much better length than it had at Seabright, and nothing seemed too difficult for him to hit for clean winners. His famous forearm drive was under perfect control, and his backhand, while not having as much pace to it as it was at Seabright, was no match for Johnston, who returned and either hit it for a clean placement or else gave his opponent a difficult shot for his next, and then finished off the rally with a very decisive volley.

Webb tried very hard, and was playing good tennis, but he was no match for Johnston, who won in quite comfortable by 6-2, 6-3.

Dr. George King, who played so well when he defeated Carl Fischer on Monday, continued in the same fine form while beating William Crocker of Canada. King is a most interesting all-around player, with a beautiful style, and it is only his unsteadiness that keeps him from ranking in the first 10 players.

Snodgrass had little difficulty while beating Thayer 6-2, 6-1.

Brookes to Reach Semifinal. The veteran player more from the back of the court than I have ever seen him before and no doubt it was to get his ground strokes working in their best form, as it is the general opinion that he will meet Billy Johnston in the semifinals.

Jack F. Whitbeck of Harvard caused a surprise when he defeated Howard Voshell in a hard and closely contested three-set match. Voshell did not seem able to judge and time his shots correctly on the damp court, and his only chance was to take the net at every opportunity. Whitbeck's passing shots, and his lobs were very good, and although Voshell was volleying and smashing with his usual skill, he could not stand the pace, and fired toward the end of the match, and Whitbeck won a fine match by 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Snodgrass had his revenge against Lucian Williams, who had defeated him at Seabright, but it was again a close contest.

I consider it was only the cut and spin Snodgrass was getting on his ground strokes, and the wet court which made these shots very difficult, that enabled him to win by 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Match Lasts Three Hours. Y. M. Hall and Lawrence Rice had a three-hour battle, which the former eventually won by 10-8, 7-6, 6-3.

It was not very good tennis, but nevertheless it was awfully interesting and a hard fight. The winner was one of the driving judges, William Yorgie, superintendent of recreation, and Park Commissioner Fred Page will be honorary referees.

All the expected couples came through successfully in the doubles, and it looks as if the Kinsey Brothers will again meet Johnston and Griffin in the final.

By Brian I. C. Norton, National Doubles Champion With William T. Tilden.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 14.—The courts here were soft yesterday and many of the players in the Newport invitation tennis tourney used spikes. Billy Johnston played the best tennis he has since he came East three weeks ago, against Walter Westbrook. During practice it was noticeable that Johnston was

Lott and Holman In Junior Final

Chicago Youth to Defend National Tennis Title Against San Francisco Player.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—George

Lott Jr., Chicago, defending champion, meets Cranston Holman, San Francisco, in the final today of the National Junior Tennis tournament, and Donald Cram of Nashville, Tenn., Southern Intercollegate champion, battles for the national boys' title with C. Alphonse

Smith of Annapolis, Md.

Lott takes the field against Holman in the doubles, with their respective partners, Tom McGinn and Emmett Pare, of Chicago. In the boys' doubles the finalists were

C. Alphonse Smith and Robert S.

Cooper, Annapolis, and Walter

Thomas, Elmira, N. J., and H. L.

Bancroft, San Diego.

Holman Comes From Behind:

Lott yesterday won his semifinal from Neal Sullivan, Philadelphia, in two easy sets, 6-3, 6-1, his sharp cross-court volleys forcing the Eastern lead into frequent errors.

Holman went into the finals by winning from Horace Orser, New York, after he seemed to be hopelessly beaten. Orser took the opener, 6-2, and had two match points on the second set, but Holman fought through, taking the set at 11-9, and the final at 6-4.

Lott and McGinn won an uphill semifinal doubles battle from Malcolm T. Hill, Royalton, Mass., and

H. L. Johnson, Boston, 1-8, 6-2,

10-8. The Eastern combination was within two points of victory in the third set, but Lott covered practically the whole court and pulled out the set. McGinn double-faulted frequently in the critical points, but Lott's brilliant playing made up for his errors.

Pare and Holman defeated Neal

Sullivan and Samuel Ewing, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4. Pare and Holman were never in danger.

LA TRASSE, TRAIN ROBBER, MISSING

Parole From Kansas Prison Expired Yesterday, But He Was Not to Be Found.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 14.—
"Bill" La Trasse, notorious train robber, is missing again, police officials say.

Two months ago Gov. Davis of Kansas granted a 60-day parole to La Trasse. That parole expired yesterday.

When police went to the home of La Trasse's mother, who lives here, to return him to the State penitentiary, they were informed that he had not been home for a week. Several weeks ago he intended to go to the harvest fields, his mother said. He may be "somewhere" in the wheat fields now, she said.

La Trasse had asked Mayor Gordon of this city to request Gov.
Davis to renew his parole. Mayor Gordon said he would ask the Governor to investigate La Trasse's record since he left the prison, with the view of granting a renewal of the parole.

La Trasse was serving a 21-year sentence for holding up a Missouri Pacific train near Leavenworth on Christmas night, 1919. A year after the robbery he was discovered by Kansas City detectives in a Chicago rooming house. While awaiting trial he escaped from the Wyandotte County jail by overpowering the jailer.

Then in the spring of 1912 he was recognized in the Illinois penitentiary by Henry Zimmer, then Chief of Police in Kansas City, Kan. He was serving a short sentence for highway robbery under an assumed name. He was returned to the Kansas State prison at Lansing, where he was shortly made a "trustee."

While a nurse in the insane ward he was implicated in the death of Frank Miller, an insane prisoner, alleged to have been beaten to death in 1915. Pending an investigation, La Trasse was placed in solitary confinement, and Nov. 15,

1915, he again escaped. From then until 1920, when he was arrested near Wichita, he was at liberty.

FAIR WEATHER WIVES

By Mildred Barbour

(Copyright, 1924.)

ARRANGED FOR SACRIFICE—CHAPTER 18

THE wedding was set for noon. Marjorie awoke early to note from her window a flawless early autumn morning. The sunshine lay golden and mellow on a garden that still flaunted its riotous summer bloom. The sky was cloudless and the waters of the Sound rippled and danced with a silvery sheen.

She lay listlessly staring out of the window. No exultant thrill of the young bride on her wedding morn came to rouse her. She recalled idly how, on other September mornings, of other years when the world had been a young, untrodden place, she had sprung eagerly from bed and dashed down to the beach for a plunge, then back again for a canter, and breakfasted ravenously, with her father, on the sunny, glass-enclosed veranda.

Now, she was hidden to remain in her room until a tray was brought for her. Her welfare, her comfort had suddenly become of the greatest importance to the entire household. After a while, Mathilda would come and she would have her tub drawn, and her hair done, and the silkies and tullest of lingerie laid out. She would be polished and powdered and perfumed, perhaps even vouch a trifle to make the bridal veil more ravishing. . . . Later, would come the grande toilette, when she would find herself in gleaming ivory satin and rare old lace, looking out through a mist of tulle under a coronet of orange blossoms.

But no delicious ripple of excitement pervaded her at the thought. She was terribly calm, almost listless. This morning, she could not even feel fear, so completely had she accepted the inevitable, so definitely had she relinquished happiness.

The night before, she had stood at her window, after she had come upstairs, and looked out over the moonlit Sound. Like brides immemorial, she had bade a silent farewell to girlhood; but, unlike other brides, she had closed a book in which no hand of sentiment had written. She had no letters to burn, no memories to lock away, no kisses to forget. Before her youth was fairly begun, it was being snatched away. Romanceless, she was being made the wife of a man she feared and hated. She felt cheated, old, weary, terribly disillusioned. The feeling lingered with her, greeted her again upon her awakening.

Mathilda, with the breakfast tray, roused her from her reverie. "It's a fine sunny day, Miss Marjorie." She was bustling about, pushing aside the curtains to let in the fresh, crisp breeze from the Sound. "They say it's 'happy' the bride the sun shines on," and sure you ought to be, with a grand man like Mr. Hollister waiting for you at the altar."

"Is mother up yet?" Marjorie asked, tasting her grapefruit listlessly.

"She's downstairs already, seeing to the decorations. That widow lady from next door is with her."

"I wish," said Marjorie slowly, "you'd ask Mrs. Forester to come up."

Mathilda looked her disapproval, but she went away obediently, and presently Cora Forester came in, looking fresh and wholesome and comforting.

"I'm delighted to play mother for awhile," she announced, kissing Marjorie's listless cheek. "Your maternal parent is up to her eyes in preparations. Heavens, how she does on it!"

Marjorie glanced around swiftly—Mathilda was in the bath, drawing her tub. She clutched Cora Forester's arm.

"Stay with me till it's—It's over," she pleaded.

"My goodness!" laughed Mrs. Forester. "You sound like a fragile young widow asking for support during the funeral. Dear child, being married is no ordeal! The one sure way of disposing of a troublesome man is to marry him. You can be confident he won't be under foot much afterward."

Her tone was light, but her eyes were filled with pity.

"Come now! Get up and let Mathilda dress you, and then we'll have a look at the gorgeous bridal bouquet that's just come."

She spoke so soothingly as to a frightened child. She remained in the room chatting lightly until Marjorie's toilet was completed. She kept at bay the rest of the household, and herself looked up the bridal gown. Her hands, not those of Mrs. Boice-Nevis, adjusted the orange blossom coronet on the fair hair, held the lovely young face for a moment between her palms, and kissed it softly on the brow.

"You look," she said slowly, "like an angel from Heaven. It's a sin to give you to any man, even Red Hollister."

Just before noon, Mrs. Boice-Nevis, exquisite in her china figure perfection, came in, surveyed her daughter approvingly. She did what she felt to be the proper thing at such moments—she had done the same for Julie and Lella—touched her eyes lightly with a lace handkerchief, said with a tremulous catch in her pretty voice: "My child, my baby! This is goodbye!" and kissed the unresisting cheek—but carefully, not to smear her own lip rouge.

She turned to Cora Forester appealingly.

"Doesn't she look exquisite? Did you ever see a lovelier gown turned out by Callet?"

Mrs. Forester smiled grimly, adjusted a fold of tulle.

"In certain barbarous countries, I've been told it is the custom to deck their human sacrifices in the finest trappings procurable," she remarked.

"My dear!" Mrs. Boice-Nevis reproved her with a warning gesture toward Mathilda.

Julie and Lella, regally arrayed in honor of the occasion, came in to kiss Marjorie and exclaim admiringly.

"Norris says that if you look the way he knows you're going to, he'll have to give you away," declared Julie.

"I think it's going to be an awfully smart wedding in spite of the season," commented Lella approvingly; "but I think Mr. Hollister's idea of a honeymoon is ridiculous. Fancy spending it at his place in the mountains, instead of touring Europe, or going to Newport at the very least."

From the drawing room downstairs, there drifted up the preliminary notes of the wedding music. The family hurried away.

Mrs. Forester guided Marjorie to the head of the stairs, gave her arm a tender little push.

"Now," she said—"Good luck!"

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

In Passing.

It takes so many little deeds to fill a busy day, so many wants, so many needs are scattered on the way. Folks go a hurly-burly crew, a haste from morn to night in search of work and pleasures new while hours take rapid flight. They find a world that's new and strange with every fleeting day, as scenes and actors ever change and old things pass away. As swiftly goes the south wind's sigh, so runs time's caravan, then why not show in passing by such kindness as we can? Such kindness as will soothe regret in any aching breast, will make the hungry heart forget, will give the weary rest, the humblest man with lavish hands has this for all in need, has wealth to rival gold and lands, plays Midas' role, indeed. Not things that worldly minds would prize as having worth and weight, not lofty place in others' eyes, not regal pomp and state are what the kindly can bestow on those who know distress, but just in passing they can show their love and tenderness. The chance is with men every hour to do what good they can, to make life's desert places flower for some unhappy man. A little hope, a little cheer to fill the busy day; ah! what a potent spell is here to charm dark fears away! What power in a word, a smile, to lift the fainting soul, to shorten many a weary mile that barred them from their goal! In passing, leave these as you go like candles one might light to shed their tiny, golden glow across the somber night.

Both shoes in a deep tone of bronze are being shown today. They have high French heels, and though often without any ornamentation, they sometimes have little buckles of bronze beads.

HOW TO AMUSE CHILDREN

By Wm. A. McKeever

Lecturer and Authority on Educational and Sociological Topics.

CONNECT your story telling with drama, depict the scenes and situations of the stories with the use of color and movement, render the entire program in the form of a story-telling festival—that is the way Salt Lake City entices its children in great throngs to come to its welfare center.

The story tellers in this program are all child welfare specialists. Garbed and decorated to fit each tale and scene, they depict the gypsy pioneer, Mother Goose, fairy, patriot, Indian and what-not. The organizations of the city furnish their best talent for this service of the young, so that everything is free. The Boy Scout band furnishes the music.

Parks, playgrounds, pools and other amusements are here. But better than all the equipment that money can buy is the spirit and devotion of the people themselves in support of their purposes to serve the young.

Try this plan on your own group. Dramatize the story in a crude fashion. Have the little ones themselves prepare the make-up. So simple a thing as a bed sheet draped about the body changes the entire index to a personality. Remember that the ghost is all appearance and no reality. A few strands of colored paper ribbon may perform the magic of changing a very common boy into a very interesting knight of something or other.

Life, even to us older ones, is partly mystery and make believe. We often prefer appearance that is beautiful to reality, that is harsh and cold. Back of our facts we hold in abeyance our fancies; ahead of our faults we hold in reserve our faith, and we all the time refuse to accept things as science and mathematics would define them.

The shadow rather than the substance counts most for the child. It is fantasy; it is make-believe; it is imagination; it is all of this which is of extreme worth to the quivering attention of the little one. Fall in behind the leadership of these Western Pioneers. Do it for the sake of a better service in behalf of the boys and girls who gather about you with their "Oh, please tell us a story."

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

Women's associations in Bulgaria are exerting pressure on Parliament to remove all obstacles to women seeking admission to the practice of law.

Women wearing low-necked dresses or sleeves that do not cover the elbows are to be barred from the churches within the Bishopric of Clermont-Ferrand, in France.

Ten student nurses at Grant Hospital, Columbus, O., were suspended recently for bobbing their hair, and can only be reinstated when their tresses grow long again.

Among the stunning new gowns for formal afternoon wear is one in leaf-brown crepe, embroidered on sleeves and skirt with zig-zags of narrow braid in beige, cream and orange. The ends of the sleeves and the edge of the skirt are trimmed with brown fur.

Alice Muriel Astor Made Her Choice and Now

The Dainty Young American Heiress Picked for a Husband, the Pedigreed Prince Obolenski, Hero of War and Divorce, and Society Lifts an Eyebrow.

Alice Muriel Astor, whose marriage to Prince Obolenski of Russia, has stirred New York, London and Continental court circles.

WHY did Alice Astor marry Prince Sergius Obolenski? That is the question which fashionable London and smart New York are passing to and fro over the teacups.

Miss Astor, who was introduced to London society about two years ago, recently came of age and into sole control of a trust fund of $5,000,000 created for her by her father, the late John Jacob Astor. And this fortune—which has increased considerably since the time of its inception—together with her hand and heart, is bestowed upon a Prince of the Russias rather than upon one of her own countrymen or the swarm of eligible young British peers who from time to time have laid siege to the charming American heiress.

It is not without reason that Anglo-American society arches a delicate eyebrow at the union between the scion of the Astors and the descendant of the ancient Czarists. For it is scarcely more than seven months since the Prince's first wife, Princess Catherine Obolenski, obtained in London a decree of divorce from her husband on the grounds of infidelity and non-support.

The foundation of the Prince's first marriage was laid among the bloodstained surroundings of the World War. Desperately wounded, his life despaired of, Prince Obolenski, then an officer under the Czar, was removed to the great war hospital at Yalta in the Crimea. There, among the shattered, twisted wrecks left in the wake of the tornado of fire and steel, Princess Catherine Alexandrovna, a daughter of Czar Alexander II, by his morganatic wife, met him as a nurse. Her tender ministrations succeeded where the cold science of the surgeon failed. The Prince slowly recovered from his wounds and was eventually restored to the world of the living.

What more natural outcome to such an incident than that love should awaken? While still in the hospital the Prince declared his passion to his high-born nurse. A little after, in the Cathedral of Saint Chrysostom in Yalta, the nuptial rites were celebrated. The Princess Alexandrovna became the Princess Obolenski.

The bride of Prince Obolenski could trace her lineage direct to the imperial Alexanders of Russia. In 1880 Alexander II, known to history as the Liberator of the Serfs and the first of the great Russian reformers, married morganatically Catherine Dolgoruk after the death of his Princess Catherine Obolenski, first wife of Prince Obolenski. The first Princess Obolenski divorced the Prince on the grounds of infidelity and non-support. Catherine Alexandrovna met and nursed her husband back to health when he lay near death in a war hospital in the Crimea. She recently came into the fortune left by her father, Czar Alexander II.

Four Unusually Delicious Desserts Now in Season

Desserts in Season.

THERE are a number of excellent desserts to be made from the so-called seedy berries that can be made with or without the seeds. Some object to the seeds, some do not; so we give recipes for both ways of using them. Raspberries, blackberries, gooseberries and currants are the seedy offenders.

Shortcake de Luxe.

Take a quart of any of the four kinds of fruit mentioned and put on to stew with a cupful of water. When the fruit is very soft strain through a fine sieve, rubbing pulp through, but not skins or seeds. Add a cupful of sugar and two teaspoonfuls of cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water. Boil and thicken (rather thick), then set aside to cool. When cold, chill. Make the shortcake of biscuit dough, split when done and butter generously then spread inside and out with the jelly, which will be thick enough to hold its place nicely. Dust with a little powdered sugar and for the blackberry and the raspberry heap with whipped cream. For the currant or gooseberry filling use a vanilla syrup flavored with fruit juice.

A Favorite Ceylon Dainty.

Make a wheaten porridge the same as for breakfast. Add a half cupful each of sugar and honey, a cupful of seeded and chopped raisins, a half cupful of chopped dates, a half cupful of chopped nuts, a teaspoonful each of rose and vanilla flavoring and a tablespoonful of melted butter. Mix well, turn into wet cups and set away to mould for an hour. When ready to serve turn out on saucers and serve with honey and whipped cream or a hot maple fudge sauce.

Fancy Cookies.

Mix a half pound of brown sugar with a half pound of chopped nuts, a salt-spoonful of salt, two heaping tablespoonfuls of flour, a quarter-teaspoonful of baking powder, two beaten eggs and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Mix well, drop by teaspoonfuls onto a buttered baking tin and bake in a quick oven. Frost with a soft frosting and decorate with a cherry in the center of each cookie.

French Frozen Fruit.

Take a pint of preserved strawberries, turn them into a freezer and add a pint of heavy cream, a pint of light cream, whipped, the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, to which has been added a tablespoonful of powdered sugar, and a small bottle of chopped maraschino cherries and the liquor. Freeze well, then stand to harden for one hour before serving. A fruit sauce is made by putting a pint of berries to stew with a cupful of water. When soft add half a cupful of sugar and strain, return to the saucepan and thicken with a little cornstarch dissolved in water. This sauce should be about the consistency of cold honey. Serve with or without cream.

buildings and logs are placed one upon another. Twenty-four hours before the demonstration takes place, a fire is lighted and kept burning briskly. When the rocks become white-hot the logs are pulled away and everything is in readiness for the tribute to the gods.

Before starting the performance, the Filipinos gather roots and herbs from nearby trees, which they cook and eat after the ceremonial dance.

They believe that if they wear garments of dried grass and their necks and carry handfuls of leaves from the "masawa" plant, they will incur much favor in the eyes of their gods, and their chances of giving a good performance will thereby be increased.

Possibly the most interesting and amazing thing about this ancient rite, is the fact that the fire-walkers are practically immune from the heat.

A Super-Clay

Brought me beauty and perennial youth

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I look back on a glorious career. First, as a famous beauty. Then, as a 35 years a stage star. And now, at a grandmother's age, a beauty still, playing a beauty's part.

I owe all that to several factors, but the greatest is a new type of clay.

Now I have arranged with druggists and toilet counters to supply it to every woman who is brought to me—multiplied beauty, decades of added youth.

My White Youth Clay

Old clays were crude and muddy. Mine is white, refined and dainty. Old types had one clay—mine has two. There are eleven ingredients embodied in mine, to bring the maximum results.

I owe this clay to men who have given it many years of scientific study. It is a super-clay, amazing in its quick and lasting benefits. I have seen many plain girls become beauties with one application. I have seen older women seem to drop ten years.

Clay is a beauty essential. No girl can look her best without it, no woman keep her youth. Look at France—where girls are all beauties and women all young. That is largely due to clay.

I have no great interest in urging women to use my particular clay. But I do urge them to use some clay. I have found that mine brings multiplied results, but better the old type than none.

The magical effects

My White Youth Clay purges the skin of all that clogs or mars it. It draws out the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and renew it. The result is a ray afterward which so amazes and delights. Much more I will say they hardly know when they use my White Youth Clay.

It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, refines enlarged pores. It wards off every sign of age. I will gladly mail sample if you mail this coupon.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Peter Sees Another Meeting

Some people never are so polite as when they suffer most from fright.

—Peter Rabbit.

PETER RABBIT had been much impressed by the humble way in which Reddy Fox had stepped aside for Old Man Coyote and the lordly way in which Old Man Coyote had gone on about his business with hardly a glance at Reddy Fox. He had treated Reddy as if Reddy hadn't existed.

"I guess," said Peter to himself, "that Old Man Coyote rules in the Old Pasture. I guess there is no one here to whom he thinks it is worth while being polite. It must be a fine feeling, this feeling that you can go where you please and have to step aside for no one."

Very early the next morning Peter was sitting in that same place, the bramble-tangle at the bend in the old cowpath. He was wondering if Old Man Coyote would come along again. Of course he was watching for him. Presently he saw him coming. He was coming down the old cowpath just as he had done the day before.

Eagerly Peter looked down the old cowpath to see if by any chance Reddy Fox was coming up. He hoped he would see him, for he wanted to see if Reddy would be as polite a second time. But Reddy wasn't in sight. The truth is, Reddy had suspected that Old Man Coyote might be in the habit of using that path every morning, and so this morning he had kept away from that particular path.

Disappointed, Peter was just turning his head to look back at Old Man Coyote when there came in sight, shuffling up the old cowpath, some one who made Peter almost squeal out with excitement.

It was Buster Bear! Yes, sir, it was great, big Buster Bear! He had come over from the Green Forest for a share of those berries. You know Buster is very fond of berries.

Now, though he was shuffling along, he was making no noise, for Buster can walk very quietly when he chooses to. What would Old Man Coyote do when he met Buster Bear? Peter almost forgot to breathe in the excitement of watching.

Right on the bend in the old cowpath Old Man Coyote came face to face with Buster Bear at the very place he had met Reddy Fox the day before. Such a difference as there was in this meeting. Old Man Coyote lightly leaped off to one side, just as Reddy Fox had done the day before.

Old Man Coyote made a low bow. "Good morning, Neighbor Bear," said he. "I'm glad to see you up here in the Old Pasture. I trust you are finding plenty of berries this morning. If not, I will be glad to show you where they are biggest and ripest and most plentiful."

Buster Bear shuffled straight along as if he didn't see Old Man Coyote at all. He didn't say a word, but shuffled on up the old cowpath and disappeared among the bushes. Old Man Coyote looked after him and snarled. But he took care that Buster shouldn't hear him snarl. Peter was the only one who heard that snarl. Then Old Man Coyote trotted on about his business down the old cowpath.

In Lieu of Washing. Sometimes cloudy windows only need wiping with a clean dust cloth to make them quite clear again.

Sticky Stoves. When stoves are obstinate and hard to clean, rub the stainer portion with salt. Then wash thoroughly. The operation may be repeated if necessary.

Easy Cleaning. The silver change purse that has become blackened can be brightened by soaking it in buttermilk over night. Rinse in lukewarm water and dry thoroughly.

For the Housewife. If a space is desired, a sink stopper will do away with the dishpan. Veal and pork should be thoroughly cooked to be absolutely wholesome.

Lamp Wicks that are soft and loosely woven will burn far better than the heavier variety. Dimity is nice for window curtains. Besides being dainty and pretty it is easy to launder.

Watch the bread box carefully these hot days. The bread seems to grow whiskers over night.

Cheese that keeps tender for days and days

Cheese that you can have in the house for days and days. Yet just as tender as the day you bought it.

Cheese of a special richness and purity that give it new lasting qualities.

American, Pimiento, Swiss and Brick cheese mellowed in a new way, undreamt of by earlier cheesemakers, that gives a deliciousness it has never before been possible to have in these varieties. This new cheese has been called Phenix Club Cheese. Put up in the popular loaf form; it cuts into dainty slices the right size for a piece of bread. There is no tough rind to pare away. No waste. Wrapped in tin foil it keeps fresh and good to the last crumb.

Try this richer, creamier cheese when everything must be especially nice and for the family meal.

MIND TRIUMPHS OVER MATTER.

LONG BROWN was a noted gambler in the early days on the Pacific Slopes and in the mountain country. In time, every gold camp came to know him for his picturesque ways and his quick wit.

But in the earlier stages of his career, before he became famous, he struck Reno, then a wide-open town.

He entered the principal saloon and dance hall and walked up to the faro table where he stood, for a space, studying the layout. Then, reaching into his pocket he drew forth a twenty-dollar gold piece and flipped it across the table.

"What's the notion?" asked the dealer, surprised but not forgetting to scoop the benefaction in.

"I make mind bets," explained Brown, "that's my system. And I just lost."

"Still I don't get you." "Simple enough. I made a mental bet of twenty-five bucks on the queen. She failed on me and I've just paid you what I owe the bank. A bet's a bet, with me, whether the money's up or not."

A few minutes later he slid two gold pieces over, explaining that he had risked it, covering the ace to take in the king. With a broad smile the operator of the box accepted the money.

Presently Brown admitted that he had lost ten on the jack and twenty on the nine. By now, the dealer was laughing aloud.

But he quit laughing soon.

"Where's it?" whooped Brown suddenly. "I've won two hundred and fifty on the ten!"

And he held out his hands for the spoils. And the bystanders made the dealer fork over.
